FLOOD OF LIGHT ALONG WHITE WAY

Will Burstin Glory Upon City Tonight.

Atlanta tonight holds high carnival.

Everyone has fallen into line to make the opening of the Great White Way one of the big events in the city's history, and it certainly "looks like a big night tonight."

As the monster parade begins to file down Peachtree street from the Aragon hotel at 8 o'clock, there will flash out, block by block, the new lights, symbols of Atlanta's prosperity and progressiveness. An atmosphere of fun and festivity will surround the happenings of the entire evening, and the Atlanta spirit will be in evidence to an extent that it has never evinced before.

The Ad Men say that this is a time to shake off serious conservatism and indulge in a mild riot of fun and frolic. They intend to make the evening a saturnalia, but one conducted according to the rules of propriety; a kind of Bacchantine revel with Bacchus conspicuous by his absence.

A Regular Carnival.

To help out in the demonstration, street venders have ordered large quantities of tin trumpets, whistles, confetti and other articles, without which no fete is complete.

The merchants along the White Way, rising to the occasion, will all have their stores brilliantly illuminated. In many cases they will keep open house, providing music and entertainment for their guests, and quite a few have signified their intention to distribute souvenirs.

And here is a secret. It has been whispered that there will be "eatings." Although no one had definitely announced that he will furnish fodder for the multitude, the report is circulating that a surprise of that sort will be sprung by one or two merchants when the time comes around.

Bring Out Your Auto.

If every automobile in the city does not take part in the parade, the Ad Men will be surprised and grieved. It is hardly conceivable that any auto owner can think of any other way of using his machine on this occasion that would bring him more pleasure than by entering it in this pageant. So, crank up the family joy wagon and have it on hand at the corner of West Cain and Peachtree streets at about 7:30 o'clock, and George H. Fauss, leader of the second division, will assign you a place in the procession.

And bring, by all means, as many of the ladies with you as you can gather, for the Ad Men say, and they ought to know, that without the presence of the "women folks" the affair will be a flat failure.

A Surprise Promised.

Keep a sharp lookout for the big feature of the parade, which is being

TRUST SMASHING BY GOVERNMENT ON RECORD SCALE

WILL COST GOVERNMENT $1,000,000 TO PROSECUTE

Trust to Be Fought in Sections. Bill to Be Filed Against Score of Divisions of the Combine. Lights, Wire, Motors and Transforming Machinery Controlled by Various Groups.

Washington, December 14.—The government's attack on the so-called electrical trust will begin before New year's day unless present plans are changed.

On a certain date, being kept secret, between now and the beginning of 1911, a bill in equity against one section of the alleged combine will be filed in some United States court east of the Mississippi river.

Then will begin what the department of justice considers the mammoth trust-busting suit of its history and one which involves a test of the Sherman law never brought before.

The government's case will depend largely upon the interpretation of the patent laws.

Suit to Eclipse Oil Trust Cases.

One of the government's prosecutors declared that when the action is instituted it will be recognized as far eclipsing the Standard Oil case in magnitude and importance and one conservative estimate is that it will cost the government no less than $1,000,000 to prosecute to an end.

This latter fact is said to be the answer of the department of justice to criticisms of delay. Attorney-General Wickersham has been unwilling to involve the government in that great

MAYORS TO URGE PAVING OF SPRING

Feature in Messages of Winn and Maddox.

Atlanta's incoming and outgoing mayors will both stress in their messages to council the great and pressing necessity of relieving the congested traffic on Peachtree street by regrading, repaving and extending Spring street.

There will, therefore, be impressed upon the general council of 1911 the immediate necessity for giving relief to a thoroughfare that is being so daily crowded as to be a menace to life and limb. It is probable that one of the very first things that the new council does in the way of public improvements will be the necessary work on Spring street that will make it available for another business artery parallel with Peachtree street.

Mayor-Elect's Views.

Mayor-elect Courtland S. Winn, when asked Wednesday morning what were his views in regard to Peachtree street and its crowded condition, said:

"I regard the improvement of a street on the north side of the city parallel with Peachtree as one of the most important matters that the general council will be called upon to take up next year. I shall recommend in my inaugural address the widening, regrading and extending of Spring street, if the money for the work can possibly be found. In this connection, I wish to state that I shall also advocate another public improvement, which will be the making of a fine driveway to Grant Park. This measure and the Spring street project can probably be taken up together and pushed through hand in hand.

"I have long ago recognized the condition of traffic on the north side of the city, which has been compelled to force itself along one thoroughfare until the street has become congested to the danger point. I believe the street committee of council next year will give this matter its earnest and early consideration, and that the finance committee will endeavor in its January apportionment sheet to find the necessary money. It will certainly have my hearty approval and support, if the money can be found."

A Citizens' Committee.

There is now in existence a committee of citizens which was formulated last year to take up the project of improving Spring street so that it could be utilized to relieve the Peachtree street traffic. That committee will doubtless be ready to co-operate with the street committee of council at its first meeting in January.

A crisis has been reached when something must be done, and done as soon as possible to protect people who have to reach the northern part of the city, and who are now forced to use one overcrowded and dangerous street. The crisis will have to be met by the mayor and general council, and just as they have taken care of the widening and paving of Marietta street and the paving of Decatur street and DeKalb avenue, it is believed they will measure up to the emergency that demands the improvement of Spring street in the interest of business and traffic and for the protection of human life.

The System That Will Connect With the Peachtree Creek Disposal Plant.

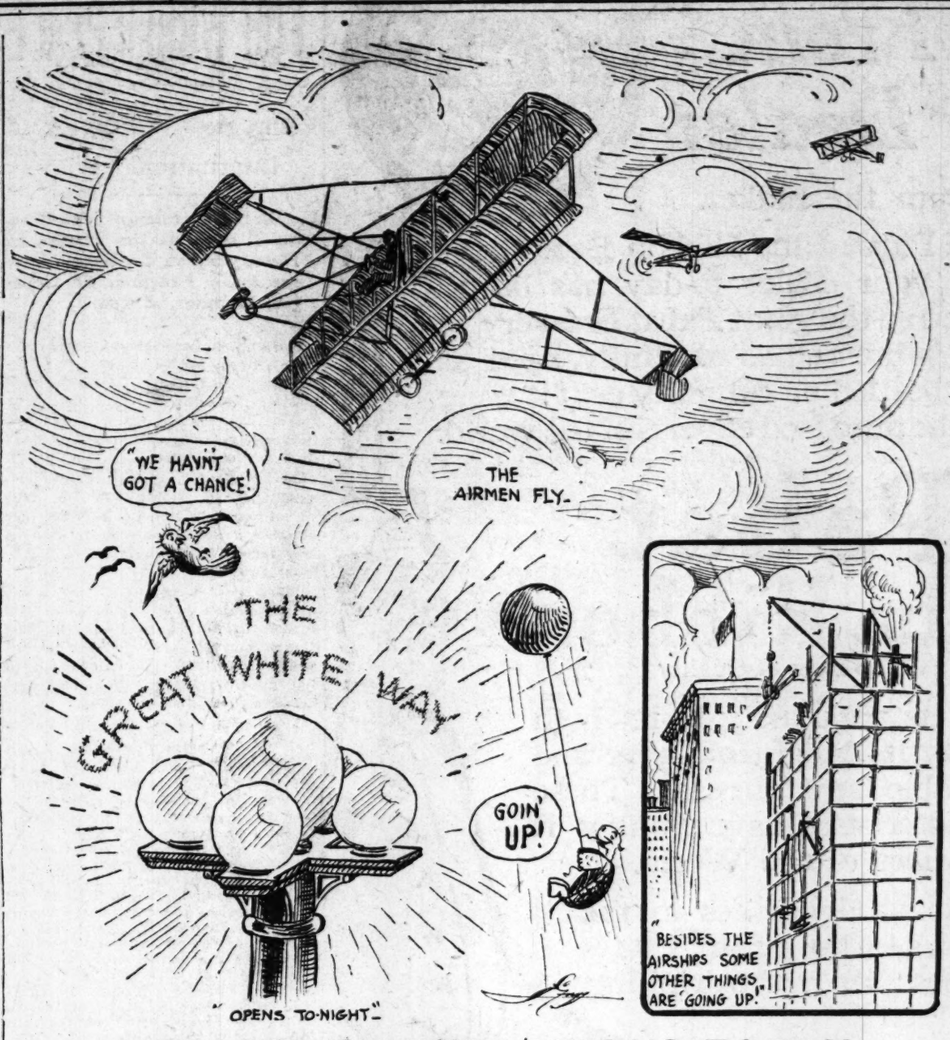

TANGLE OVER THE BIDS IS PARTLY CLEARED UP

Bond Commission and Sewer Committee Adopt Monolithic Form of Sewer---Trouble Still in Sight About the Bids for the Disposal Plant on Peachtree Creek.

A part of the tangle over the bids for the Peachtree creek disposal plant and the intercepting sewers from Butler and Orme streets was cleared up at a meeting of the bond commission and the sewer committee of council yesterday afternoon by adopting the monolithic form of sewer and recommending to council that the contracts be let to the lowest bidders.

The lowest bidders were as follows:

JUDGE SPEER SENDS HUSBAND CONVICTED OF MOONSHINING AS CHRISTMAS GIFT TO WIFE

Valdosta, Ga., December 14.—John Weatherington, a young man, and David Sutton, aged 78, a confederate, who has a 7-year-old son, were before Judge Emory Speer in the federal court here today for sentence on the charge of moonshining. To the young man the court said, after giving him two months in jail and ordering him released Christmas eve:

"I want you to go home Christmas eve and get in your wife's stocking and tell her I sent you as a Christmas present to her."

To the old man he said:

"You go home as quick as you can," stating that the old man was too valuable a man to his country to be in jail.

EDITORS AND STATESMEN GREET GOVERNOR-ELECT DIX

New York, December 14.—(Special.) Prominent democratic editors and statesmen were the guests here at a dinner given this evening at the Holland house by John A. Sleichter in honor of Governor-elect John A. Dix, of New York.

It has been Mr. Sleichter's custom for many years to invite democratic editors and other men prominent in the democratic party to meet incoming republican governors of New York state.

Two years ago at such a dinner to Governor Hughes one of his democratic guests bantered Mr. Sleichter on the subject of his next dinner. "Will you give it in 1910," he was asked, "when the governor-elect is a democrat?" "I surely will," responded Mr. Sleichter, but he had no idea then that a democrat would be the guest of honor.

At tonight's dinner there was much rejoicing by the democrats that their guest of honor proved to be a democrat and not a republican, as many of them expected there would be at the last dinner.

Many addresses and toasts helped along the merrymaking.

Prominent among Mr. Sleichter's guests, numbering in all about fifty, were: Mr. Dix, Major J. C. Hemphill, of The Richmond Times-Dispatch; ex-Governors Black and Odell, of New York; Collector Loeb, Tart Lyman, Chester S. Lord; Darwin P. Kingsley, of the New York Life; Charles A. Peabody, of the New York Mutual; A. Barton Hepburn, of the chamber of commerce; H. H. McClure, the magazine editor; Otto Kahn, the financier; Judge D. Cady Herrick, and Clark Howell, of The Atlanta Constitution.

After the dinner Colonel Howell and Major Hemphill escorted Mr. Dix away to the Southern Society dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, where all three made short addresses to the assembled southerners.

Geo. W. Glover and His Children Get $10,000 Each.

Concord, N. H., December 14.—"For the purpose of more effectually promoting and extending the religion of Christian Science as taught by me," Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, in her will filed here today, made the Mother church o. Boston her residuary legatee, after various other bequests are paid.

In addition to the previous gifts made to her son, George W. Glover, of Lead, S. D., $10,000 is given him in the will and the same sum is given each of his five children.

Dr. E. J. Foster-Eddy, her adopted son, gets $5,000; Calvin A. Frye, $20,000, and there are several more bequests of $1,000 to $3,000 each to relatives and attendants of the Eddy household.

All who know FRANK H. HITCHCOCK, postmaster-general, appreciate how THOROUGHLY he digs for facts when he makes up his mind to go after them.

He does not talk much. HE WORKS. He is very persistent and generally accomplishes what he undertakes to do.

His fight to put the GET-RICH-QUICK CONCERNS out of business is meeting with a swifter success than even he thought it would, because the men operating them are usually such clever scoundrels that it is hard to detect them.

But the postmaster-general has got them on the toboggan all right and it won't be long before they will get out of business altogether.

The hundred million dollars they have already taken out of the people, luring them to invest in fly-by-night schemes, should be sufficient reason for sending them to the Atlanta or some other prison. THEY WILL GET THERE ULTIMATELY.

But how were these get-rich-quickers able to get all of this money out of the people?

IT WOULD NOT HAVE BEEN POSSIBLE EXCEPT THROUGH PUBLICITY.

NIGHT RIDERS AND NEGROES FIGHT IN PIKE

One Negro Is Reported Killed and Also a Member of Night Rider Band.

SITUATION IS REPORTED TO HAVE REACHED CRISIS

Alleged That Night Riders Have Been Whipping Negroes For Weeks, and Negroes Have Organized For Resistance---Planter Woodall Says Outside Aid Is Needed.

Barnesville, Ga., December 14.—(Special.)—Grave trouble between the races is reported in the vicinity of Milner, a small town about 5 miles north of here.

For some weeks it is alleged that night riders have been going about in that section whipping negroes. It is alleged that many negroes have been maltreated, and the feeling on the part of the negroes became very bitter.

Two Men Fatally Shot.

It is said the negroes organized for defense, and early this morning, after midnight, when the night riders visited the home of Will Atwater, a negro, for the purpose of whipping him, they met with resistance. A fight ensued, in which many shots were fired, Will Atwater being fatally wounded, and a white man, who was with the night riders, also being probably fatally shot.

The night riders were all masked, and they removed their wounded companion; and are said to have secreted him.

Crisis Reported Reached.

J. W. Woodall, a large planter, who lives near Milner, telephoned here early tonight that a crisis had been reached, and that aid was needed to prevent further racial clashes.

Woodall says that the negro Atwater is dead and that the white man who was wounded in the fight at Atwater's home has also died. The identity of the white man is being kept secret.

Cause of Trouble Unknown.

Just what caused the outbreak of night riding against the negroes is not known, but it is alleged that it has been going on for some weeks and that scores of negroes have been whipped.

The sheriff of Pike county has been communicated with at Zebulon and it is understood that he will proceed to Milner to investigate and if possible to stop the trouble.

Troops May Be Needed.

Mr. Woodall, in telephoning here tonight, strongly intimated that he thought the militia would have to be used to check the trouble.

COL. FORT DIES WHILE IN OFFICE

Chattanooga, Tenn., December 14.—Colonel Tomlinson Fort, aged 71, a leading lawyer, confederate veteran and public man of this city, dropped dead this morning. He was a native of Milledgeville, Ga., but had lived in Chattanooga since 1867. He was mayor of Chattanooga from 1876 to 1878.

Colonel Fort was a native of Georgia and belonged to one of the oldest families of that state, the lineage running back to colonial days. He came to Chattanooga about forty years ago and was one of the prominent figures in the development of this city after the civil war. He was elected mayor in 1875, and for many years he was a member of the city council and later served several terms as a member and chairman of the board of public works. He accumulated much property and left an estate valued at probably $200,000. He was a confederate veteran and a Mason.

One Brother and Three Sisters.

Colonel Fort is survived by one brother, Dr. John P. Fort, of Athens, Ga.; and three sisters, Mrs. Frances Fort Brown, widow of the late Julius L. Brown, of Atlanta, now residing in Chattanooga; Mrs. Sarah Fort Milton, of Knoxville, Tenn., and Miss Kate Fort, of Chattanooga, with whom he lived. His nephew, George Fort Milton, is president and editor of The Chattanooga News and The Knoxville Sentinel. Colonel Fort never married.

Colonel Fort visited Atlanta twice recently, representing his sister, Mrs. Brown, in the settlement of the controversy over the will of the late Julius L. Brown. In his will Mr. Brown bequeathed a highly prized Masonic emblem to Colonel Fort, they having been close friends.

Sketch of Colonel Fort.

Colonel Fort was born in Milledgeville, Ga., April 26, 1839, and was one of the thirteen children of Dr. and Mrs. Tomlinson Fort. He graduated from Oglethorpe university, and was one of the honor men of his class.

He was admitted to the bar at Milledgeville in 1859, before which time he had studied law in the office of Colonel George A. Gordon, of Savannah.

He reported the sessions of the legislature for several newspapers during the winters of 1857-59, 1860 and 1861, and in the spring of 1861 entered the confederate army. Governor Joseph E. Brown appointed Mr. Fort first lieutenant in the First Georgia regulars, one of the two regiments first ordered raised. He had ben an ardent secessionist and entered with zeal upon his duties. He was slightly wounded at the battle of John's Island, South Carolina, and was shortly after attacked with rheumatism and while lying sick at Raleigh was captured by the federals.

COL. WATTERSON TALKS TARIFF

Conference Agrees Upon No Definite Action.

Brushwood Cleared at Meeting of Democratic Members of Ways and Means Committee, Kentucky Members and Colonel Watterson.

Washington, December 14.—No definite plan of tariff revision was agreed upon at the conference Monday night between the democratic members of the ways and means committee, the democratic members of the Kentucky delegation, George Harvey, of New York, and Henry Watterson, editor of The Louisville Courier-Journal, according to a statement issued by Mr. Watterson tonight.

"Some brushwood was got out of the way and a clearing made in the labyrinth of confusion and misunderstanding which always guards the approaches to the robber castle of protectionism," said Mr. Watterson, as he told of the consensus of opinion which prevailed at the conference. He declared that "the principle of revenue opposed to the principle of protection as the bedrock of whatever plan the ways and means committee of the incoming house would adopt," was the general idea of those present at the meeting.

He said that a tentative committee on ways and means soon would confer with the newly elected members of the house and the work of collecting data, which "cannot be obtained by the government, and must be relegated to experts employed for the purpose," would be begun at once.

"Many democrats are clamoring for radical declarations and drastic measures, quite forgetting that after the Cleveland program of 1894-95 we are back where we were in 1875," declared Mr. Watterson, emphasizing the need of educating the country again in preparation for a change from the protective to the revenue system. "The democratic party is not an architect of ruin or destruction, but a builder which it will show itself if entrusted with complete power and repsonsibility as it did it in the enactment of the Walker tariff.

Mr. Watterson characterized the tariff as the "king-pin" of political agitation. "Tariff commissions," he said further, "are merely schemes for delay and pleas in abeyance. The question will never be settled until it is settled right, and it can never be settled right except on a revenue basis, because the government has no right in equity or law to levy and collect a dollar of taxation except for its own support.

"The real question, therefore, for the manufacturers to consider is whether they will let us democrats settle it on the revenue basis, or, following the example set them by the planters of the south with respect to slavery, they will leave it to be settled during some period of commercial and industrial famine by the mob."

conditions the rescue work had to be stopped tonight and the other two bodies will not be brought out before morning. The names of nine of the dead, all taken out, are:

James Barrowman, superintendent; William Ritchie, mine foreman, and Lee Rowland, Charles Williams, Jessie Ritchie, Charles Whitaker, John Rodan, Arch Leslie and John Ritchie.

The latter named and Charles Rosenbaum were rescued alive, but Ritchie succumbed to his injuries. Rosenbaum's injuries are slight and he is able to walk.

The explosion came without a moment's warning and it is believed to have been caused by an accumulation of gas set off by "blowing" coal. The air shaft was thought to be in good condition and nothing of the kind was expected. The same mine, however, had a similar explosion three years ago, in which six men were killed. As soon as the news of the explosion had spread to other nearby mining operations, of which there are a number in the vicinity, rescue parties were formed and conveyed to the scene by special trains and private conveyances, but nothing could be done except bring out the dead bodies. Only slight damage was done to the mine.

The wives and children and other relatives of the missing men were attracted to the scene of death by the loud report of the explosion, and weeping and praying, they kept up ceaseless begging for help to save their loved ones.

IMPORTANT TO EVERYONE

It is now conceded by physicians that the kidneys should have more attention, as they control the other organs to a remarkable degree and do a tremendous amount of work in removing the poisons and waste matter from the system by filtering the blood.

During the winter months especially, when we live an indoor life, the kidneys should receive some assistance when needed, as we take less exercise, drink less water and often eat more rich heavy food, thereby forcing the kidneys to do more work than Nature intended. Evidence of kidney trouble, such as lame back, inability to hold urine, smarting or burning, brick-dust or sediment, sallow complexion, rheumatism, may be weak or irregular heart action, warns you that your kidneys require help immediately to avoid more serious trouble.

An herbal medicine containing no minerals or opiates has the most healing influence. An ideal herbal compound that has had most remarkable success as a kidney and bladder remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by mail, absolutely free. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and mention The Atlanta Daily Constitution.

DREAM OF ATLANTA ARTISTS SOON TO BECOME A REALITY

A six-story building devoted to the musical interests of Atlanta, with an auditorium, studios, roof garden and music stores; a permanent light opera company; the putting of the Atlanta Philharmonic Orchestra on a permanent basis—these are some of the things which will be seen in Atlanta at no distant date, if the plans formulated by the Atlanta Musical Association are carried through to a successful termination.

In talking of the plans of the association yesterday, Miss Bertha Harwood, its president, said:

"Our open achievements last year are fresh in our memory; our Philharmonic Orchestra and great artist concerts, our educational concerts of high merit, our social affairs of high order and worthy our art. This year we have added an amateur orchestra, already a credit to our association. For our Philharmonic Orchestra we are getting up a yearly subscription of $2,000 for five years, the proposition being for two hundred people to give $10 per year for that time, and in return not only support the movement, but receive two tickets for each concert. Five years will put the orchestra in a harmonious oneness that will place it among the best in our country. This fund will be gradually increased and we expect Atlanta will be ready in five years to put up $75,000. It is our plan to then give festivals throughout the south. This may be done in less time. It will be a great boon to the south and a good business proposition.

Permanent Light Opera.

"Our next plan is a permanent light opera company within our association. Every season we are asked if the association cannot give its services to charity. Here is our opportunity, at the same time developing ourselves and the musical situation here. Here our amateur orchestra could fit in to advantage.

"A home for all the arts, the creating of an art life in our city. This home to be a stock company, owned and controlled by artists and art lovers. The building to be as follows: On the ground floor in the center of the building an auditorium, with stage and organ, seating about fifteen hundred people, with a stage, organ and with perfect acoustics.

"Around this auditorium, separated by halls, to be stores and above the stores music studios, with deadened walls, to be rented to the profession. The floor above the auditorium to be devoted to the dramatic art and the literary world with reference library for all the arts.

"The next floor for artists, sculptors, etc., with a suitable room for a permanent art exhibit and lecture room. The next two floors devoted to club rooms for various organizations of artistic bodies, the next floor a cafe, under one management, but with private quarters for the various societies represented, and a common banquet hall. The roof garden to complete the building. With these three practical plans, the possibilities are limitless for the internal artistic development of our city."

provided by a fund given by Mrs. William B. Nobel, in memory of her husband, an Episcopal clergyman, and is for the benefit of the students and the faculty. Col. Roosevelt's visit to Massachusetts was expressly for the lecture, although he attended a meeting of the Harvard overseers this afternoon at the office in Boston. Col. Roosevelt was elected a member of the board of overseers last June. Just befre going on the lecture platform tonight Col. Roosevelt learned of the Carnegie peace foundation fund. He hailed the announcement with great delight and was especially pleased with the selection of Senator Elihu Root as the permanent representative of the United States at The Hague.

Toward the end of his lecture he made special reference to the gift as providing the means of making "real progress in bringing about the results which Mr. Carnegie desires to achieve."

"He is entitled to the hearty praise of all good citizens here," said Col. Roosevelt, "and of all patriots in all countries."

"But remember," he said, "that the ultimate worth depends on the good practical sense the judgment and ability of men who, administering the fund, succeed in translating the theory into action."

This translation of the moral theories of government into practice or what he termed "applied morality," he sought to illustrate by the Panama canal, and the direction of Col. Goethals; conservation as exemplified by the labors of Garfield and Pinchot, and the peace movement as furthered by John Hay and Elihu Root.

He declared himself in favor of the fortification of the canal and of a larger navy as the best guarantee of peace.

THEATERS

"The Man on the Box."
(At the Orpheum.)

"The Man on the Box" has been read by many of the people of the world, and it is known for its cleverness and good wholesome reading matter. The characters are human and real, and not stage actors, that's why the play and book are both successful. "The Man on the Box," as played by Mr. Bert Leigh, is far the most laughable character on the stage today, as he fits the role as though whitten for him. The supporting company is good, and all goes to make a first-class production. "The Man on the Box" played over 200 nights in New York, and as many in the other large cities.

"It's a mighty fine play and company," is the verdict of The Columbia State. It will be the attraction at the Orpheum tomorrow and Saturday, with a matinee on Saturday.

"The Spendthrift."
(At the Orpheum.)

The attraction at the Orpheum Theater all next week will be Frederic Thompson's production of Porter Emerson Browne's domestic drama, "The Spendthrift," with a cast of notable players. Those who recall Mr. Thompson's production of "Polly of the Circus," "Brewster's Millions," "Via Wireless," and Mr. Browne's other great success, "A Fool There Was," will have good reason for anticipating another dramatic treat. The play ran nearly all winter in New York and was voted one of the real metropolitan successes.

WAYCROSS SHOWS 150 PER CENT GAIN

And Her People Are Putting on All Sorts of Airs.

Waycross, Ga., December 14.—(Special.)—South Georgia, particularly Ware county, is crowing and strutting around like a child with its first red-top boots, carrying a chip on its shoulder and bragging about how the section has outgrown north and middle Georgia. Waycross, as a city, is at the top, way above any city in Georgia, its growth being 150 per cent, which is more than twice Atlanta's phenomenal growth per cent; then there is Ware county, with sixty-odd per dent growth, which is much ahead of the growth of any other county in Georgia. To this is added the gain of one representative and a jump to thirty-second place from sixty-fourth in size.

Examination Paper? Certainly! Foote & Davies Co., 65 E. Alabama St.

23 PER CENT EARNED BY THE BALDWIN BANKS

Fine Showing at the Annual Meeting of Stockholders.

Baldwin, Ga., December 14.—(Special.)—The annual meeting of the stockholders of Baldwin State Bank was held here yesterday. More than 95 per cent of the stock was represented. The net earnings were 23 per cent. Eight per cent of this will be paid out to the stockholders and the remainder placed to the surplus account. The same directors were elected for another year.

CHAMPION HOG RAISER.

Great Record by One-Horse Farmer in Laurens.

Dublin, Ga., December 14.—(Special.) W. G. Towns is probably the champion hog raiser of this county. Mr. Towns runs only one plow, but he has raised this year twenty-six head of hogs. He has already killed eleven. The largest weighed 237 pounds and the smallest 108 pounds.

The large hog was 18 months and 8 days old. The hog weighed a half-pound for each day of its age.

Funeral of Dr. Collier.

Griffin, Ga., December 14.—(Special.) Funeral services over the body of the lamented Dr. T. J. Collier were held at the First Baptist church at 10:30 o'clock this morning, and were largely attended, the Confederate Veterans and members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and Spalding County Medical Association attending in a body. The services were conducted by Dr. A. T. Spalding, of Atlanta, and Revs. R. R. Acree and A. C. Smith, all paying tribute to the memory of the deceased.

His skull was badly crushed. The younger brother is not seriously injured.

COURT UPHOLDS JUDGE CHARLTON

In Decision in Suit of Bondholders Against Central.

The supreme court has upheld the decision of Judge Walter G. Charlton in regard to the case of the bondholders of the Central of Georgia Railroad company against that railroad. The purpose of the action was for the adjudication of the net earnings and income available on the terms of the mortgage for the payment of interest for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1907, beyond the amount declared in the statement of the railway company.

The reorganized company issued three series of bonds, for a total of $15,000,000—the first preferred series for $4,000,000, the second for $7,000,000 and the third for $4,000,000. In 1907 the railroad company furnished the trustees with a statement showing it was ready to pay 5 per cent on the first series, 3.729 per cent on the second and nothing on the third. The trustees of the second and third issues objected. The books of the company passed through the hands of an auditor, who made a report in favor of the trustees. Exceptions were filed and the whole business went into court.

LARGE CENSUS GAIN BY THOMAS COUNTY

The Apparent Decrease Is Due to the Loss of Territory.

Thomasville, Ga., December 14.—(Special.)—Though the report from the census department giving Thomasville only 29,071 as her population compared to 31,076 in 1900 seems very much of a decrease, the population has really increased 9,995 since that time. In 1907, when Grady county was cut off from Thomas and Decatur counties, Thomas lost in the neighborhood of 12,000 people, leaving only a population of 19,076, so that the real gain has been about 52¾ per cent, the largest of any county in south Georgia.

This will take Thomas out of the "big six" class, and it will have to fall back with those counties which are allowed only two representatives. This is not a matter of surprise, however, as no one expected a larger increase; in fact, it is larger than the most optimistic figured upon having.

Everybody is anxious now to hear from the population of Thomasville, and it is hoped that its increase will be as large in proportion as that of the county.

OVER $200,000 INVOLVED IN LAMAR LITIGATION

Macon, Ga., December 14.—(Special.) Henry J. Lamar, Jr., Mrs. Jack Lamar and other beneficiaries under the will of the late Henry J. Lamar through Attorneys Hall, Guerry and Roberts, filed a motion for new trial in the suit entered some time ago to hold W. D. Lamar accountable as the sole executor of the estate of the pioneer capitalist, Henry Lamar, for certain valuable stocks, the corpus of which was under the will to remain intact till 1925. The court directed a verdict several weeks ago, which left the property in undisputed control of Walter Lamar. More than $200,000 is involved in the litigation.

BOARD WILL ACT ON RAISE IN SALARIES

Board of Education to Hold an Important Session This Afternoon.

A number of important matters will come up before the board of education at its regular monthly meeting this afternon in the Boys' High school.

All the recommendations in regard to the increases of teachers' salaries made by the finance committee must receive the approval of the full board before they are passed on to council for final settlement. It is not thought that the board will make any radical changes in the schedules, yet a few minor items may be altered.

Another matter of supreme importance is the question as to whether or not the board is to change its present method of electing teachers and principals. Judge E. C. Kontz has introduced a resolution to take this power out of the hands of the superintendent of schools and restore it to the board. This resolution, having laid over for a month, will come up for consideration at this afternoon's meeting.

To Inspect Central Shops.

Macon, Ga., December 14.—(Special.) Master Mechanic W. H. Fetner, of the Central railway shops in Macon, has extended an invitation to the mayor and city council to visit the shops on a tour of inspection next Saturday afternoon. This will be the first official visit by local authorities since the entire plant, representing an expenditure of $2,000,000, was put into operation. Later the entire membership of the Macon chamber of commerce will be asked to inspect the shops.

BARRELS OF BOOZE IN A MACON "TIGER"

Police Make Raid and Capture Liquor in Great Quantities.

Macon, Ga., December 14.—(Special.) Two raids were made upon the soft drink establishments of F. W. Shelton at the foot of Mulberry street today by Chief of Police Walter Chapman and assistant officers. Five barrels of liquor were taken away on the second raid to the city hall. The man was locked up and his place closed.

Shelton succeeded in having a pending case deferred in police court, and as he went to his place he was followed. The police say the first thing he did was to sell a quart of whisky to the jailer when he returned to the place and they charge that they walked in upon him in the very act.

The barrels of whisky were found in a little negro peanut stand.

The Telegraph Buys a Home.

Macon, Ga., December 14.—(Special.) Transfer of the present Macon Telegraph building was made by Miss Amelia Horne today to The Telegraph Publishing company, the price named in the papers being $27,500. The paper will reconstruct the burned structure for a modern newspaper plant.

WHAT to GIVE

WHAT TO GIVE? THIS QUESTION COMES TO EVERYONE IN CHRISTENDOM ONCE EACH YEAR. MAY WE SUGGEST THAT YOU GIVE SENSIBLE, SERVICEABLE PRESENTS? THE GIVER IS JUDGED BY HIS OR HER GIFTS. Christmas Chimes

Giving presents is often a one-sided affair.

There is something wrong with a small boy who keeps his face clean on Christmas day.

Hope is the best present physicians can give their patients.

Christmas saves little boys and girls from the monotony of being bad all the time.

He who loves and loses will have one less present to buy.

Store ideals are the conscience of dealers.

The roughest experiences arise from the smoothest tricks.

The man who is on the fence fails when he gets in the field.

Every man thinks he would play the role of Santa Claus successfully if he had the money.

When in doubt, buy handkerchiefs.

Not even Christmas is right with pessimists.

The man who "accepted a position" must work just as hard as the one who got a job.

Follow the dictates of economy, and it's doughnuts to fudge you'll buy here.

The only trouble about shopping these days is the fear of being caught.

There are times when it isn't necessary to advertise the truth—but at such times it isn't necessary to advertise at all.

A real friend is one to get inside information so he can give the right present.

From now on it won't take the average man long to get short.

When a woman gives a man cigars for the purpose of getting even, the odds are against her.

Common sense is an uncommonly good thing to possess when choosing Christmas presents.

In a conflict between two women, each struggles for the first bargain and the last word.

A merchant's ideal customer is the one who thinks he's an ideal merchant.

A man's face may be an open book, but you can't read between the lines what he's going to give you.

At Christmas, love takes an extra laugh at locksmiths, but gold and silversmiths give it the merry grin.

This was accordingly done, the results at the polls showing the high regard in which Mr. McClelland is held by his fellow citizens.

BLONDE AND HER SONG CAUSED THIS DIVORCE

Separation and Alimony Are Granted by Court to Mrs. Estelle Caldwell.

A pretty "vaudeville blonde" and her songs, "Just a Little on Account," and "Flee, Boogie, Oogie Man," were the main grounds on which the jury yesterday granted a final decree of divorce to Mrs. Estelle Caldwell, H. W. Caldwell being the delinquent husband. In addition, Mrs. Caldwell was awarded $10 a month alimony for herself, with an equal amount for each of her four boys until the children reach the age of 16 years.

But before she can collect the money she will have to locate her erstwhile husband, as he is not in the city at present.

The "vaudeville blonde" in the suit bears the name of Ethel Leneave, a close imitation to the little London typist's name, who figured in the Crippen case.

MORE RAISES WANTED BY THE SCHOOL BOARD

Desires Salaries of the Drawing Instructor and Some Principals Be Increased.

The finance committee of the board of education, at a meeting held yesterday afternoon, decided upon a number of items to be included in next year's budget, which will be presented to the regular monthly meeting of the board this afternoon for adoption.

It was recommended that the salary of the drawing instructor be increased to $1,500.

The committee considered the present quarters of the English-Commercial Girls' High school inadequate, and recommended that council be asked to appropriate the sum of $125 per month to rent larger quarters next year.

The salaries of the principals in the following schools were fixed as follows: Oakland City, $1,200; East Atlanta, Highland Park, Battle Hill and Western Heights, each $1,100.

An increase in the salaries of negro principals was recommended, the minimum salary being placed at $70 and the maximum, as applying to eight-room schools, at $82.50. The salary of the principal of the Pittsburg school was fixed at $500.

The minimum salary of negro janitors of eight-room schools was increased to $30.

All these measures must be adopted by the board and then passed by council before they become the law.

WOODROW WILSON ORATOR SOUTHERN SOCIETY BANQUET

New York, December 14.—The "present problem of our politics," said Woodrow Wilson, governor-elect of New York, at the banquet of the Southern Society of New Jersey tonight, "is not how to redivide the powers of government, but ho wto revitalize and redignify and redeem powers of the states."

"There was in the south," he continued, "through all the period when it stood apart and bred a special character of its own, a very strong spirit of individualism, no doubt the jealous regard for the dignity and independence of the individual; but its individuals were bred in a common way, and the enthusiasm of southern life was for society as well as for individuals who made it up. Southern life was formed by a singular combination of a strong individuality with common ideals. In the south a community produces a man, the man embodies his neighbors and their loyalty went out to him and hung to him as a matter of course.

"These are the things which the southerner has brought out of the past into the present, and it happens that the particular problem of the present is the express national purposes in action without loss of local vitality.

"No sane or public-spirited man is jealous of federal power. Everyone who looks discerningly upon the present problems of the union must see that those which are truly national must be taken care of by federal action. But what we wish to guard against is the atrophy of the local agency. What we wish to prevent is anything which will relieve our people from the necessity of taking care of themselves.

"Men of the south ought to see just what this means, and just how their own training and spirit may contribute to it. A new day will come when the old spirit of neighbors and servants is translated into the terms of a new age."

Governor-elect Wilson and Governor-elect Dix, of New York, who came to the Southern Society banquet from another dinner, sat on either hand of William G. McAdoo, president of the society.

Governor-elect Wilson and Martin W. Littleton, representative-elect, were the chief speakers.

Mr. Littleton spoke on "Commerce and the Country."

President McAdoo introduced Mr. Wilson as one of four men who had kept faith with the American people—Abraham Lincoln, Grover Cleveland and Theodore Roosevelt. "You have drunk the toast of a president of the United States," he continued, "we will now drink a toast to a future president."

Dr. Wilson sat smiling while the toast was drunk, and rose to deprecate it. "If I didn't remember who I was yesterday, ' he said, "I should not know who I am today, in view of very recent happenings. I don't know my destination, and I have so much to do just now that I don't care where I land, so long as I land on some people's necks."

VERDICT IS ORDERED OF "NOT GUILTY"

Because of the failure of the evidence to make out the charges of immoral conduct against H. T. O'Shields and Mrs. Maude Jackson, their cases were yesterday dismissed in the city criminal court.

The Jackson-O'Shields case attracted much attention a few weeks ago. It will be remembered that a case was made against Mrs. Jackson in the absence of her husband, and that he upon his return to the city employed Burton Smith and demanded a hearing before the courts. The case was tried on Wednesday, and after the evidence had been introduced Judge Calhoun, whose experience and knowledge is recognized by all, stated that no case had been made out and that he would order a verdict of "not guilty."

Mr. Smith, representing Mrs. Jackson, said to the court:

"Mr. Jackson is a member of the locomotive engineers, a body of men whose standing and character is recognized by all; he is a brotherhood man and is here with many other engineers and their wives prepared to testify to the utter absurdity of these charges. The only evidence against Mrs. Jackson is the evidence of an old maid, and all that she says is that she saw Mr. O'Shields in his shirt sleeves speak to Mrs. Jackson. I urge your honor to permit me to introduce my evidence. Mrs. Jackson, Mr. O'Shields and Mr. Jackson have been friends since their infancy. The parents of Mrs. Jackson and Mr. O'Shields sleep together in the same family burying ground. They feel toward each other like brother and sister. Mr. O'Shields had boarded with them for weeks and months, and it is a shame that the vicious and prurient malignity of this old maid should be allowed to go unchallenged. I recognize the fact that it must be shocking to this old lady to see a man with his coat off, but I decline to admit that her imagination should be allowed to go unchallenged. I have heard many good citizens and their wives who know all about the case and who wish to testify to the virtue and good character of Mrs. Jackson. The truth is, Mrs. Jackson did her own work and stayed at home, while these old women, most of whom were Dagoes, nosed around about her affairs."

The court replied to Mr. Smith and said:

"No case has been made out against Mrs. Jackson and nothing has been proved against her; there is no need to show her good character, for nothing is shown against it. I shall therefore direct a verdict of 'not guilty.'"

Attorney Smith, in speaking of the case, said:

"The result of this trial is an absolute vindication of Mrs. Jackson. She and her husband at the termination of the case were congratulated by every one in the court room."

The Important Problem

confronting anyone in need of a laxative is not a question of a single action only, but of permanently beneficial effects, which will follow proper efforts to live in a healthful way, with the assistance of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, whenever it is required, as it cleanses the system gently yet promptly, without irritation and will therefore always have the preference of all who wish the best of family laxatives.

The combination has the approval of physicians because it is known to be truly beneficial, and because it has given satisfaction to the millions of well-informed families who have used it for many years past.

To get its beneficial effects, always buy the genuine manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only.

TO APPOINT DELEGATES TO CIVIC FEDERATION

Gov. Brown to Name the Delegates From Representatives of Georgia.

The National Civic Federation has invited Governor Brown to appoint ten representative citizens of Georgia to represent the state at the annual meeting of the executive council of the federation, to be held in New York city, January 12, 13 and 14.

Organizations of the federation have been established in many of the states, and it is usually the rule for these state bodies to appoint the representatives to the annual meeting. In the short time before the next meeting it would be impossible to perfect a state organization in Georgia, so for this year the governor has been asked to select the delegates.

Governor Brown will confer with the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce and other commercial and labor organizations, and will select ten of the state's most capable men to represent her at the meeting in January.

The National Civic Federation executive committee includes such nationally known men as Seth Low, who is the president; Samuel Gompers, John Hays Hammond, John Mitchell, Alton B. Parker, Augustus Belmont and others of equal importance.

The four vital subjects which will be considered at the next meeting are: The regulation of corporations and combinations; regulation of railroads and municipal utilities; compensation for industrial accidents, and arbitration and conciliation.

FIREMEN GIVE BUGGY TO EX-ASSISTANT CHIEF

The members of the Atlanta fire department have presented former Assistant Chief Henry Haney, retired, with a handsome rubber-tired top buggy, as a token of their friendship and esteem for a comrade who had served side by side with the best of them for the last twenty-eight years.

Former Assistant Chief Haney is now living on his farm, near Austell, Ga., and it was a very appropriate gift for his former associates to present him with a buggy, in which he can drive about his farm and to the city.

Chief Haney is one of the veteran fire fighters of Atlanta, and his feeble health, causing his retirement, was a source of great regret among the other members of the department, who held him in the highest love and esteem.

The Gates of Christmas open on the Great White Way.

Thank your stars that Santa Claus never asks "How's politics!"

Perhaps the Colonel is traveling around to locate the grip he lost.

It really looks like the Prosperity Country, with golden trimmings.

It must be a green Christmas time; burglars are having such a picnic.

Though you set up all night for it, somebody will beat you shopping early.

It is not the Colonel's old-time voice. Lost a scale or two of its high pitch.

Cheer up. The price of Christmas turkey can't roost as high as the aviators fly.

If Uncle Joe is relegated to the chimney corner, how he will "chunk" the fire!

Perhaps Ballinger would get out if he had to pay storage on his vindications.

It will not be possible to retain one dime as a shining souvenir of the holiday dollar.

Taft stengthens the Supreme Bench, but not because the raps of Roosevelt weakened it.

Christmas holidays have the call now. Football cannot hope to compete with them.

The Colonel broke the silence so gently that there was no run on the courtplaster supply.

Now for a song with a ringing chorus—"Meet me in the glory of the Great White Way!"

However Taft has missed it himself, he has made some pretty good judges of the situation.

Hard work ahead of new members—correcting proofs of their speeches for the Congressional Record.

A scientist says "the human race is losing its toes." But it will be able to kick harder without them.

Promise the Christmas shopper a hobble-skirt, but don't give her one until her task is accomplished.

A tame, conservative Colonel will be a disappointment to the people toughened by the blows of a wild one.

It's a big recommendation to tell them that you come from the United States, and your city's in the census.

The man who doesn't believe in Santa Claus is just out of the Ananias Club, and nobody believes in the man.

It comes hard on Manuel, but a moneyless ex-king must preserve his dignity. He cannot make a vaudeville deal.

Even if you are in the way to get damages for an auto run-over, you may not realize in time for the Christmas shopping.

Better sing the song to "Father" now. The atmosphere round about him will be too stormy when the bills are coming in.

"Wall Street accepts the message," says an exchange.
Well, nobody expected that it would wad a shotgun with it and fire it back.

THE TYRANNY OF MAWKISHNESS.

Contending that the universal demand for executive clemency in capital and other criminal offenses tends to put a premium upon crime, Governor Joseph M. Brown declares that "pistol-carrying and murders will never decrease until the certainty of punishment, sufficient and severe, is established beyond question."

The governor is eminently correct.

Next to baneful technicality and antiquated judicial procedure, mawkish sentimentality contributes most largely to the inefficiency of law in this country, and the increasing handicap of the courts in dealing with crimes of a serious nature.

The principle is illustrated in the recent Crippen case in England. Impartial trial, appeal, condemnation and execution ran a swift course, with all the power and majesty of the law standing between the vindication of justice and maudlin popular appeals for mercy.

Petitions containing thousands of signatures were foist upon the British authorities, but they were disregarded and the law took its due course. There was no sound reason why it should not have done so. The merits and humanities of the case had been exhaustively canvassed. To have substituted mistaken whisperings of mercy for the stern mandate of the law would have been to bring the latter into hopeless weakness and disrepute.

In America there is no guarantee that the lachrymose element would not have prevailed, and a convicted murderer allowed to escape with a life sentence, destined to commutation in the long run.

The universal American tendency to yield to such sentimental urgings is one explanation of the indictment of our country as a "nation of killers."

It is an unpleasant thing, of course, to apply the extreme penalty of the law to any human being. In the natural revulsion against death administered on the gallows or in the electric chair, we are apt to forget the crime; to forget that the certainty of punishment is one of society's devices for self-protection and self-preservation, and that with the slayer the dread of the law is as effective as in Burns' line—

"The fear o' hell's the hangman's whip, to keep the wretch in order."

Remove the fear of doom by statute, and you strike at one of the foremost defenses of society against the inroads of chaos.

If in time of war men treated deserters and spies as we now do criminals, no cause would be safe, no country secure.

And there is no certainty that the man whose self-wrought plight enlists your pleadings today may not turn his violence against you or your friend tomorrow. The criminal impulse is like disease—it knows no boundary lines, and no distinctions.

Rule by mawkishness is almost as dangerous as rule by anarchy.

If biograph pictures of homes rendered destitute and desolate by pistol-toters and other criminals were made a part of every court record, men, and women, too, would turn less to tears and more to sanity as the arbitrament of justice.

It may be that the shrinking from pain, or the infliction of pain, is one of the penalties of our twentieth century evolution. But when it comes back on society-at-large and upon posterity with usurious interest—it is time to make a sharp differentiation between the moderation that spells Christianity and that which foretells dry-rot.

A CROWDED DAY.

Tonight Atlanta puts on one of the final garments of metropolitanism in the opening of the Great White Way. For it is an axiom of a city of the first class that its business heart should be almost as light by night as by day. And that is the mission and the performance of the system of central illumination formally inaugurated this evening.

Credit is due the property owners, the merchants, the business men and the council of Atlanta for their co-operation in the materialization of an important project. From a local standpoint, immediate and adequate returns upon the investment may be expected; but even more important are the enhanced prestige and publicity accruing to the city by reason of the impression made upon the throng of visitors continually passing through Atlanta from the four corners of civilization.

A feature of the celebration this evening will be the leading role taken by the Ad Men's Club, an organization that has within a relatively short career demonstrated its commercial and civic value to the municipality.

Coincidentally with the opening of the Great White Way comes the beginning of the three-day aviation meet arranged under the auspices of The Atlanta Journal. The city will be thronged with visitors from Georgia and many sections of the south, anxious to witness, first hand, a demonstration of the foremost accomplishment of the twentieth century. For its initiative and public spirit our contemporary is due a vote of appreciation from the people of this section.

Containing features with a universal appeal, the day is a crowded one in Atlanta's history.

TONIGHT AT UNION CITY.

From many parts of Georgia and the south wide paths run today and converge, by common consent, at Union City, Ga., the little town that grew in a night and that is located in Campbell county, seventeen miles out of Atlanta.

There is a reason.

For this evening Union City, the home of the president of the National Farmers' Union, and the headquarters of the Georgia division of that biggest farmers' organization in history, is to constitute its first Masonic lodge.

The induction of a Masonic lodge in the average town is not, in the ordinary course of events, an epoch-marking affair.

In the case of Union City the surroundings are different.

The distinction rises, first, in the phenomenal career of the town itself; second, in the hospitable and progressive spirit of its people.

To set the occasion in bas-relief as against similar events in the history of Masonry in Georgia, President Barrett has planned a unique celebration.

The guests of Union City—and they include the Grand Lodge of Georgia, the highest Masonic officials in the state and Masons and prominent laymen from all portions of the south—are to be served an old-fashioned 'possum dinner, surpassing anything of that nature in the annals of southern hospitality.

The enthusiastic Union Cityites have virtually cornered the 'possum market in Georgia during the last few weeks. The most robust and vital specimens of the tribe have been segregated at Union City, cooks of state-wide reputation have been retained and the 'possum gourmet fortunate enough to be among those present is going to have the time of his life.

Other good things will also figure in the menu, but it is insisted that 'possum, that "bird" familiar in Dixie's song and story, will be the piece de resistance—whatever that may be.

An open invitation has been issued to all Masons, in Atlanta or elsewhere, in good standing. A special train leaves the Terminal Station at an hour announced in the local columns and, returning, will arrive in Atlanta in time to permit a sound night's recuperatory rest.

$10,000,000 FOR PEACE.

Curiously, Andrew Carnegie has just astounded civilization by giving for the promotion of international peace the same sum we sink in a battleship—ten million dollars.

If the price of one Dreadnaught can smooth the way for that day when the nations will beat their swords into plowshares, the coincidence will have been historic.

Yet one need not be too optimistic regarding the effect—the immediate effect, at least—of this most practical Carnegie benefaction.

Men are not going to be dissuaded from bloodshed on a large scale without great difficulty and much patient education.

We are coming to see that war, in the long run, and under the standards of our day, is as much an economic as a patriotic factor.

Even in our fiasco war with Spain, the economic motive ran strong beneath a surface of sympathy and a fervor of patriotism.

In the wars of later days, and more particularly in the Russo-Japanese war, the principle is emphasized. Japan took up the sword, not so much because of a hatred of Russia and in resentment of insults, as to carve a way of expansion for industrial and commercial empire.

At the last analysis, the men who control the massed capital of the world comprise, along with popular sentiment, the tribunal before which is fought out the momentous question of "war or peace." If it is true that an army travels on its belly, it is no less true, in our day, that the propelling force of any modern war is a bank account.

It is with these factors that any movement for international peace must reckon.

Hope beckons, from the fact that, when all is said, popular sentiment controls capital—and popular sentiment is capable of education, even where avarice and land lust are involved.

"You musn't mind when things happen contrary," said the Old Philosopher. "You ought to know, by this time, that it's that kind of a world, and makes no exception in your case. For instance, there's joy enough to keep the world dancing. Yet they may turn you out of the church for it; or, if you express your feelings in a hallelula on the highway you may be in for it for disturbing the peace of the community; and even if you decide to be miserable, and mope in some old corner, they'll say you're a dead one and it would be better for the world if you were out of it. So, just be a philosopher, and saw wood, and look wise!"

A Consolation.

The best may not be for us,
And the last may not be first,
But we'll have a good time whistlin'
On the road to meet the worst.

We'll cheer the darkness, anyway,
By whistling for the break o' day.

By day we'll catch a sunbeam,
By night a starry ray;
The shadows of the meadows—
Oh, we'll whistle them away!

We'll make old Winter dream and sing
By whistling for the flower-fair Spring.

GLOVER GETS PLACE OF "COMMERCE CLERK"

Atlanta Man Goes Into New Position Created by Atlantic Coast Line.

To fill a new position, created by the Atlantic Coast line, that of commerce clerk, Frank L. Glover, chief tariff clerk in the Atlanta general freight offices of the Southern railway, has resigned and gone to Wilmington, N. C., where he takes up his new duties today.

In his new position Mr. Glover will be in charge of the preparation of data for rate cases before the interstate commerce commission.

Before entering the service of the Southern railway Mr. Glover was for a number of years chief rate clerk of the Southeastern Freight Association. He is recognized as one of the most thoroughly posted rate men in the country, and his appointment to this position just created by the Coast Line is evidence of the high regard in which his ability is held.

Mr. Glover is one of the most popular members of the Atlanta railroad colony, and has many friends who will regret his departure to Wilmington, though pleased at his deserved promotion.

Record Sale of Tobacco

Richmond, Va., December 14.—Sales of 340,000 pounds of tobacco today broke the season's record of 300,000 pounds, which was hung up in the tobacco exchange yesterday. This was all "wagon trade" from the counties within driving distance. Tomorrow a great quantity of freight car consignments will be sold.

RECORDER APPLAUDS GEORGIA'S GOVERNOR

Recorder Nash R. Broyles sends to The Constitution a communication in which he applauds Governor Joseph M. Brown in the position he has taken in regard to the pardon of murderers. The statement by the recorder, which will be read with much interest, is as follows:

"Editor Constitution: Every patriotic citizen of Georgia should applaud Governor Brown's brave stand against the granting of so many pardons to murderers and other violators of the law. Society needs protection more than the criminal needs misdirected mercy. We are fast becoming known to the rest of the world as a nation of criminals—as a nation of murderers!

"The only remedy for this shameful condition in our country is for our judges and juries to administer swift, certain and adequate punishment, and for our governors to stand by them and uphold their sentences. Unless this is done, life and property will soon be so unsafe in the United States that our respectable and peaceable citizens will think of removing to some country where the law will protect them.

ABOUT TO BE EMBALMED, CORPSE CRIED "HELL, BILL!"

Westbrook, Minn., December 14.—As the undertaker was about to inject embalming fluid into the body of John Regnell to prepare the supposed corpse for burial, Regnell raised himself from the embalming table to an erect position, and said:

"Hell, Bill!"

A physician soon had Regnell out of danger. His face, however, will be permanently marked by the carbolic acid which he took yesterday in trying to end his life. Regnell says he is now perfectly willing to live.

WANT TO BUY XMAS PRESENTS? GO TO POLICE AUCTION SALE

There is going to be a Christmas sale at the police station on Thursday, December 22. The sale will be a public auction at which will be sold a very large collection of pocket knives, razors, shoes, hats, caps, clothing, umbrellas, pipes, tobacco, valises, grips, rugs, watches, rings, scarf pins, underwear, clocks, pictures, brushes, and, in fact, nearly everything that can be mentioned except liquor. Booze will be barred.

This will be the police "Ole Hoss" sale of 1910. The goods on hand have been captured from thieves and burglars and are unclaimed by the owners.

There will be a large crowd present and the bidding will be spirited and lively. Much of the goods are new. It is usual to sell the small articles in large lots, such things as pocket knives being sold by the hatfull. Some of the packages, trunks and boxes will be sold with the contents unseen. Bargains will be made in some instances, and in others, there will be bitter disappointment.

This will probably afford an excellent opportunity for people who haven't much money to get some rare Christmas bargains.

MANY NOTABLES COME TO ATLANTA

President Taft and Roosevelt Among Visitors.

They Will Come Here to Attend Meeting of the Southern Commercial Congress. Governors of Many States Will Also Attend.

William Howard Taft, Theodore Roosevelt, Woodrow Wilson and Judson Harmon are among the notables who are coming to Atlanta in March to attend the meeting of the Southern Commercial Congress. In addition, the governors and governors-elect of twenty states have already signified their intention of coming here at that time.

The announcement that President Taft is to attend the congress and make an address comes from Washington city, where a committee representing the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce and the Southern Commercial Congress appeared before the president and requested him to address the congress. The invitation of these gentlemen was backed by telegrams from all of the governors and governors-elect who expect to attend. Mr. Taft not only accepted the invitation, but expressed great pleasure at the prospect of making another trip to the city that made "Billy Possum" famous.

Atlantans Extend Invitation.

The committee which went before the president for the purpose of inviting him to Atlanta contained four representative Atlantans, all representative of the local chamber of commerce, and one of them representing personally the state through Governor Brown.

Asa G. Candler, who represented both the chamber of commerce and Governor Brown; Victor Smith, J. R. A. Hobson and Walter Cooper, secretary of the chamber of commerce, were the Atlanta members of the committee which waited on the president. This committee carried with it invitations from many of the most important commercial bodies in the south as well as telegrams from the governors who are to be present, all urging Mr. Taft to come to Atlanta. Governor Brown's invitation was especially urgent.

Most Notable Gathering.

The meeting of the Southern Commercial Congress, which takes place in this city on March 15, promises to be the occasion of the most notable gathering this section of the country ever saw, President Taft's acceptance rounding out the list.

Aside from the president, Woodrow Wilson, newly elected governor of New Jersey, is probably the most interesting figure in the group. Mr. Wilson has not only just completed a campaign that was as unique as it was successful, but is believed by many to be the logical man to lead the democratic party in the presidential race in 1912.

Judson Harmon is another figure in the national limelight at this time. He has just been elected to a second term as governor of Ohio and, like Mr. Wilson, is looked upon as a strong presidential possibility next year.

The only Theodore Roosevelt the world ever saw will make up the last of the "Big Four" expected to attend. All of these gentlemen will address the conference during its three-day session.

These will not be the only men prominent in political life who will come to Atlanta tt this time, however. Twenty governors and governors-elect have already expressed their intention of attending the conference, while others are yet to be heard from.

Besides these, men prominent in business and professional life in all sections of the south will come to the congress.

Development of the South.

Development of the south from a commercial and industrial standpoint is the subject to which the congress will devote itself throughout the entire meeting, and men interested in the development of this section are expected to attend in great numbers.

President Taft will address the congress using "A Greater Nation Through a Greater South."

SECRET REPORT CREATES FURORE

Dickinson Points Out Army's Weakness.

Sensational Document Sent to House by Secretary of War. Country Inadequately Protected Against Invasion From Foreign Governments.

Washington, December 14.—A sensational report from the war department showing how the country was inadequately protected against invasion from foreign governments was sent to the house today, and, after a number of conferences and hurried telephone messages, was returned to the war department on the ground that the house could not receive a secret report.

With 391 members of that body, the contents of the report would stand a chance of leaking out to the public immediately.

Members who saw the document before its withdrawal say it is a report of Secretary Dickinson; points out that the country is wholly unprepared; that there is a woeful inadequacy of men, of guns and of ammunition; that the army should be reorganized, and that a council of national defense, with the secretary of war at its head, should be created by congress.

Official Admission to Army's Inefficiency.

The report of General Wood, which was marked "confidential," dealt with these matters and gave official admission to matters that are of more or less common knowledge among army and navy experts in this country and abroad. In fact, the real significance of the document is that it makes official admissions of these conditions.

General Wood, in his testimony before the house military committee today, furnished some of the most interesting information ever given before that body. He discussed the whole subject of national defense, told where the weak points lay, and laid particular emphasis on the possibility of attack from the Orient. He did not give vent to any alarmist views as to danger of any immediate invasion, but talked confidentially of the need of changes as prudent and valuable to guard against trouble from Japan or China.

MRS. ABBOT'S FUNERAL HELD THIS AFTERNOON

The funeral of Mrs. Josephine Abbot, who die' in her apartments in the Piedmont hotel Wednesday morning, will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the country residence at Brookwood. Rev. Dunbar Ogden will conduct the services.

Mrs. Abbot was born in Greene county, Georgia, in 1831, her father being Jesse Rankin, a prominent citizen of Georgia. Her mother was a Burke, one of Georgia's oldest families. After living in Greene county for several years she moved to LaGrange, where she met the late R. H. Richards, vice president of the Atlanta National bank, and married him. Mr. Richards left her a large fortune, variously estimated at from $600,000 to $1,000,000. Most of this is in stock in the Atlanta National bank, though she owned several very valuable real estate sites in this city.

She became the wife of Colonel B. F. Abbot in 1895, and has since that time lived at the residence on Peachtree, though she owns a home in Brookwood. Mrs. Abbot has always been prominent in church work and in enterprises of a charitable nature, having made large gifts to various institutions, among them being Agnes Scott and the Central Presbyterian church. She was a member of the Presbyterian church.

The following relatives survive her: Henry Durand, Mrs. Alma Pappa, Mrs. R. E. Adams and Mrs. D. W. Morgan, all of Atlanta, and Miss Alma Stanley.

The pallbearers will be J. J. Eagan, C. J. Martin, R. M. Clayton, J. B. Campbell, F. E. Block, C. D. Montgomery, Marion Jackson and J. A. Whitner.

The interment will be in the family vault in Oakland cemetery.

CHARRED REMAINS OF AGED MOTHER

Found by Daughter on Returning to Her Home.

Washington, Ga., December 14.—(Special.)—Burned to a crisp and almost beyond recognition, was the fate which befell Mrs. Epsie Portwood, an octogenarian of Wilkes county, living eight miles south of Washington. The accident occurred Tuesday afternoon about 5 o'clock.

Mrs. Portwood, on account of her advanced age, was very feeble and was carefully watched after by her daughter, Miss Ella Portwood. Tuesday afternoon Miss Portwood had to leave her home for a short time, and fearing the possibility of her mother's being burned, smothered the fire in the large open fireplace before sh left. She had not been away but a short while before Mrs. Portwood felt the need of the fire and attempted to rebuild it. There was no one in the house or within calling distance of it when the accident occurred and the first knowledge of the tragedy was on the return of Miss Portwood, who found the charred remains of her mother in one corner of the large fireplace, as if she had calmly taken a seat there.

Mrs. Portwood was a member of an old Oglethorpe county family of that name and came from Sandy Cross to Wilkes county about eight years ago. She is survived by her daughter, Miss Ella Portwood, and two sons, Monroe Portwood, of Lundburg, this county, and Jefferson Portwood, of Sandy Cross. The remains will be taken to Sandy Cross for interment Thursday.

WESLEY MEMORIAL HOSPITAL TO GET CHRISTMAS OFFERING

Following their usual custom, the Methodists of Georgia will make a Christmas offering for the charity work of Wesley Memorial hospital. Literature bearing on the free work of the hospital is being mailed to superintendents of Sunday schools and to pastors throughout the state. Both churches and Sunday schools will contribute to this cause.

This literature gives some interesting facts regarding the free work done for the deserving poor at the hospital. During the year which ended November 1, 1910, an unusually large amount of this work was done. For the five years ended November 1, 1910, the churches contributed a little more than $15,000 for charity work, while more than $39,000 was spent on this work. The fact that for every dollar invested more than two and a half dollars was spent in ministering to the sick, shows careful management of the finances of the institution. Numbers of communities in the state have been brought in touch with the hospital through treatment given the deserving poor, as patients from all sections of Georgia have received treatment.

A feature of the Christmas offering for 1910 will be the fact that the Sunday schools will participate in it. With the information that is being placed in the hands of the superintendents, the members of the Methodist Sunday schools through the state will be thoroughly informed as to the practical value of the hospital. It will offer to the children an opportunity to make Christmas offerings of great practical value.

The Georgia conferences have repeatedly given their indorsement to the splendid work of the hospital and as the institution has grown in public favor each year, those most closely identified with it look for a generous offering from every section of the state.

SEIZED FOE'S TIE AND DIAMOND AND IS ARRESTED FOR ROBBERY

Columbus, Ga., December 14.—(Special.)—There was a rather sensational incident at the union passenger shation today, when V. J. Pekor, a prominent jeweler, accosted Frank A. Stockton regarding a balance that he alleges Stockton owes him on account. Stockton was preparing to leave the city. A personal difficulty ensued and Pekor alleges that the latter struck him with a stick. He tried to grab Stockton by the throat, he says, and in the scuffle pulled off his tie, in which there was a diamond stud. The jeweler declares that Stockton threw his hand around as if to get a weapon, and he ran away, still holding the tie, the other pursuing, but not catching him. Pekor says that he did not discover until afterward that he had carried off a diamond.

Stockton swore out a warrant against the other, charging him with highway robbery, and Pekor gave bond in the sum of $1,000.

Masters was one of the engine crew going south seven weeks ago when the locomotive he was riding pushed into an engine pulling a heavy freight train on a north-bound schedule.

Albany, Ga., December 14.—(Special.) It became known today that the Georgia Cotton Company has sold to the Atantic Compress Company the Albany cotton compress, the price paid being $100,000. It is understood that the sale was really made several weeks ago, though the fact only became public today. The transfer carries not only the press, but a warehouse covering about an acre and a half of ground, near the union passenger station. It is the time-honored custom to regard faithful employes, department heads and other officers at Christmas. Retiring officers are complimented, and parents take this time to present to their children a gift that will be a prized possession for a life time.

One of the most appropriate and serviceable gifts you can select is a good watch. Generally the engraved inscription upon a presentation piece is appreciated more than the gift itself, but if the article you give will be serviceable, it adds materially to the attractiveness of the rembrance.

The guests were invited at 9 o'clock, and received in the living room of the club, assisting in receiving being Bishop and Mrs. Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Memminger, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Informal dancing was enjoyed until 11 o'clock, when an elegant supper was served. After supper the cotillion was danced, the various figures led by Messrs. Alexander Smith, Jr., and Winship Nunnally.

The Decorations.

The entire clubhouse was elaborately decorated, the Christmas scheme of red and green expressed in artistic devices of palms, fern, bamboo, smilax and flowers of all kinds.

Within the entrance hall there was a decoration in all-green; palms were against the wall and at the base of the stairway, the same continuing in the music room adjoining the living room. Here, where the receiving party was, there was potted fern on all sides, and the note of red in the long-stemmed American Beauty roses filling vases on the mantel, and showing through the palms and fern banked on each side of the mantel.

American Beauty roses were on the mantel in the dining room, where bamboo hung from the windows and doorways, and American smilax embowered the circular end of the room. In the center of each table were plateaus of holly, the light, of the red berries, illumined by the red shaded lights of fairy lamps in the center of each plateau. Garlands of smilax etched the white table cloths, and crystal dishes held red and white bonbons.

Through the loggia the guests passed through red shaded lights and baskets of hanging fern into the ball room into a more brilliant scene.

The latticed walls of the loggia were hung with smilax; the vivid red poinsettia blossoms and little red shaded electric lights were an illuminating touch, and there were bay trees and palms under which seats were arranged for a rendezvous during the dance.

The Ball Room and Favors.

The ball room was a bower of green enriched by the foliage and berries of Christmas holly, and the silvery berries of the mistletoe tempting merriment as it hung on sprays and clusters from arched windows and doorways. The deep alcoved fireplace in the end of the room was all in holly and red lighted, while tall bay trees hung on each side had clusters of holly among the thickly set foliage. Garlands of smilax studded with poinsettia flowers hung from the ceiling, and were crossed and confined to the walls on each side, where a frieze of smilax and holly, almost concealed the woodwork.

The columns were festooned in smilax, and the hall lights were all shaded in red. During the figures of the cotillion the favors introduced were red. There were horns in cases of green paper, decorated with poppies and poinsettia, and hoops of green around which garlands of red flowers were festooned.

Muffs were ornamented with clusters of flowers, and there were frou-frou frills for the neck, all in red. In one figure, the pretty faces of the girls were framed by cunning little sunbonnets, and there were all kinds of Christmas baubles, and at the end confetti to add to the merriment of the occasion.

The Debutante and Her Flowers.

In the little forest of green and flowers and starry lights, Miss Disosway was as Titania in her court of fairyland. Her blonde beauty and grace and winsomeness radiated the charm of her personality, and she was at all times during the evening the center of admiration.

She wore a simply-fashioned gown of soft white satin, with draperies of lace, silver-threaded about the corsage. In her hair was a band of silver; she wore silver slippers, and carried as she received her guests an armful of American eBauty roses, these selected from a wonderful collection of bouquets, which came as tributes of affection and admiration from friends, old and young. There were bouquets of Killarney roses showered in valley lilies; corsage bouquets of orchids and lilies; Liberty roses, in all their beauty, and carnations of all kind: those of white, those of the soft tints of the enchantress, and those taking on the color of Christmas red. There were bouquets of pink and white roses, all giving opportunity for the florists' art.

Mrs. Disosway wore a Parisian gown of white crepe meteor, the corsage embroidered in crystal. Mrs. Disosway wore black satin, the corsage embroidered in gold.

Osgood will speak about "Greek Sculpture," and will illustrate her talk with twenty-four large slides. The public is cordially invited. No admission charged.

A very unique program has been prepared by Miss Annie Mae Broach which emphasizes the "rose." Miss Broach will be assisted by Mrs. Cleve Webb and Mrs. Paul Key, who will each render vocal solos, accompanied by Miss Leila Andrews. Miss Broach has prepared eleven girls of her Sunday school class who will give several choruses and recitations.

Houston-Maury.

Mrs Josephine Weyman Houston and Mr. Reuben Maury, of Virginia, were married at noon yesterday at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. Samuel Weyman. Rev. C. B. Wilmer, of St. Luke's church, performed the ceremony, which was witnessed by a large assemblage of relations and friends. The groom entered the drawing room with his best man, Mr. Fishborn, of Charlottesville, Va., and the bride was accompanied by her brother, Mr. Weyman. They stood for the ceremony before an improvised altar of palms and white flowers, lighted by the waxen tapers of tall Cathedral candlelabras. The bride wore her going-away gown of black cloth, with corsage of chiffon over blue satin. Her toque of black was trimmed in aigrettes and she wore a corsage bouquet of violets. An informal reception followed the ceremony and an elegant breakfast was served. At the bride's table, circular in shape, there were Mr. and Mrs. Maury, Mrs. Minnie Fontaine Stokes, Mrs. J. O. Lewis, Mrs. Dan A. Pardee, Mrs. Robert Alston, Mrs. Roff Sims, Mrs. Kinlock Nelson, Mr. Fishborn, Doctor Wilmer and Major Sloan. The table centerpiece was a basket filled with Richmond roses, the handle tied with ribbons of red tulle. The silver candlesticks had shades of red and all the detail decorations were in that color.

The Christmas decorations in green and red were all through the hospitable home and the occasion was one notably happy.

Mrs. Weyman, the charming hostess of the occasion, wore a white satin gown with overdress of green, embroidered in gold.

Mr. Maury and bride left on the afternoon train for "Piedmont," his mother's home, near Charlottesville, where they will reside.

A. H. Gordon, pastor, the bridal party being grouped in the midst of foliage and flowers, an elaborate decoration of foliage plants and white carnations and roses obtaining.

The bride entered the church with her brother, Mr. Herbert L. Wiggs, and she was charming in her traveling gown of taupe-colored cloth, with becoming hat to match. Her bouquet was a shower of valley lilies.

Mr. Dowdell Brown was best man, and Messrs. Joel Hurt, Ronald Ransom, John Hall, James E. Carlton, James R. Nutting, James Goodrum, Jr., and H. E. Watkins were ushers.

Mrs. Foster's Reception.

A handsome reception yesterday was that given by Mrs. S. W. Foster at her home on Peachtree street, and several hundred guests enjoyed a delightful hospitality. They were assembled to meet Mrs. Eula B. Griffin and Mrs. Georgia McMichael, who have recently returned from two years' travel in Europe, and who were given a cordial welcome.

The decorations were an artistic elaboration on the holiday colors, red and green, and poinsettias, the Christmas flowers, were everywhere in brilliant evidence.

Bamboo was an effective mural decoration throughout the house, and the winding stairway in the reception hall was hung with it. Palms and ferns were massed in appropriate place, and the growing poinsettias as well as the cut flowers were used in profusion.

In the dining room the principal decoration was a large ship of spun candy, a reproduction of the vessel that bore home the two travelers, guests of honor. It rested on a large mirror wreathed with smilax. At the other end of the table was a tall vase of American Beauty roses, colonial glass candlesticks had red rose shades, and the candies and ices were red. A delicious buffet luncheon was served, and the punch bowl was an inviting resort in the hall.

An orchestra provided music during the calling hours.

Mrs. Foster was a charming hostess, wearing an elegant gown of white brocade silk draped with chiffon and embroidered in pearls. Mrs. Griffin wore a Parisian gown of marquise lace over lilac brocade with a finish in duchess lace. Mrs. McMichael's French gown was of black chantilly lace over cream satin with a trimming of Venetian lace.

Assisting in entertaining were Mrs. Grant Wilkins, Mrs. Louise Todd Thomas, Mrs. Charles Bowen, Mrs. C. B. Walker, Mrs. Howard McCall, Mrs. Carlton H. Miller, Mrs. Clarence Houston, Mrs. W. M. Zirkle, Mrs. Frank Orme, Mrs. Charles Rice, Mrs. W. D. Ellis, Mrs. W. M. Hollaman, Mrs. David Woodward, Mrs. George Hope, Mrs. John McCullough, Mrs. Joseph Morgan, Mrs. Harry Ellis, Miss Ruth Lewis, Miss Lilian Tidwell and Miss Nellie Bowen.

Miss Nell Waldo, Miss Marie Houston, Miss Harriet Holland and Mrs. V. J. Adams served punch.

Bowden-Johnson.

A pretty wedding last night was that of Miss Susie Mills Bowden and Mr. John Henry Johnson, which took place at 8 o'clock at the residence of the bride's mother, Mrs. S. E. Bowden, on Courtland street.

Rev. Marvin Williams, of Douglasville, performed the ceremony, and the only attendant was little Miss Dovie Blair, of Austell, flower girl.

The bride wore her cloth traveling gown, a basket weave in blue, and her hat, the same color, was trimmed with a green heron's wing. Her flowers were a shower of bride roses and valley lilies.

The little flower girl wore a white embroidery dress, with pink ribbons. Mrs. Bowden was gowned in gray satin and lace.

Mrs. Thomas Ardell Kemp played the wedding march, and an informal reception followed the ceremony.

The house was tastefully decorated throughout with southern smilax, ferns and white roses, except in the dining room, where there was an attractive decorative plan in pink. Dainty refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson went to Florida on their wedding trip, and, returning, they will be at home for the present with the bride's mother at 311 Courtland street.

Mrs. Clark's Reception.

Mrs. R. N. Clark's afternoon reception yesterday at her home on North Boulevard, was a delightful affair and a compliment to her guest, Miss Sue Gilham, of Cincinnati, and to Mrs. J. A. Watson, of Batesburg, S. C., who is visiting Miss Julienne Pace. One hundred and fifty ladies called, and the house was attractively decorated for their reception with foliage plants and poinsettias. In the dining room, a decoration in pink was substituted, the table centerpiece a plateau of Maryland roses, and all the color details pink. Mrs. Clark wore a becoming gown of yellow chiffon cloth over white satin, with an embroidery in gold. Miss Gilham wore a lavender and white tulle gown, trimmed with Duchess lace. Mrs. Watson wore blue chiffon over pink satin.

Assisting in entertainment were: Misses Elinor Behre, Georgiana Tremere, Ella Baker, Mrs. Y. R. Glenn, Jr., Mrs. F. S. White, Mrs. H. M. Askew, Miss Julia Gorde, Miss Julienne Pace.

FACE AND HEAD AN AWFUL SIGHT

Eruption Broke Out when 2 Weeks Old—Itched So He Could Not Sleep—Hair All Fell Out —Cuticura Cured Him.

"I wish to have you accept this testimonial, as Cuticura did so much for my baby. At the age of two weeks his head began to break out with great sores and by the time he was two months his face and head were an awful sight. I consulted a doctor, who said it was nothing but a light skin disease which the baby would soon get over. But he seemed to get worse so I called another doctor. His opinion seemed to be the same. They both prescribed medicine that did not do a bit of good. A friend advised me to take him to the hospital, which I did. Two doctors there gave me medicine in a liquid form. It did him no good.

"Nearly every day I would read a testimonial in regard to Cuticura and my wife thought she would try it to see if it would help the baby. I got a box of Cuticura Ointment and a cake of Cuticura Soap and after using these he was entirely cured. Before Cuticura cured him he could not seem to sleep, as his face and head would itch so. What hair he had all fell out but soon he had a nice head of hair and his face was perfectly clear. It is now nearly five years since he was cured and there has been no sign of the eruption returning. Chas. H. Evans, 81 Flint St., Somerville, Mass., April 19, 1910."

A single set of Cuticura Soap and Ointment is often sufficient to cure, rendering it the most economical treatment for affections of the skin and scalp. Sold throughout the world. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, Mass. Mailed free, latest Book on Care of Skin and Scalp.

HATTIE LE BLANC FOUND NOT GUILTY

Verdict of Jury Cheered by Spectators.

Seventeen-Year-Old French Girl Denied From Outset the Murder of Clarence Glover, Whom It Was Alleged Wronged Her.

Cambridge, Mass., December 14.—Hattie Le Blanc's pathetic plea that she be alowed to go back to her home in West Arichat, C. B., with her father, was granted today, when a jury, after deliberating an hour and a half, decided that she was not guilty of the murder of Clarence F. Glover, a laundryman, of Waltham.

The verdict was a popular one—so popular that the traditional decorum of a Massachusetts court was swept aside, while men and women cheered, shouted and wept for sheer joy.

The demonstration continued for twenty minutes, and the court officials were utterly powerless to stem the tide of enthusiasm.

Immediately after the girl had been discharged from custody, Assistant District Attorney Wier endeavored to persuade Judge Bond to hold Hattie as a witness to give evidence before the grand jury which might warrant the incrimination of Mrs. Lillian M. Glover, the widow of the murdered man, who has been accused by counsel for the defense of being the real culprit in the case.

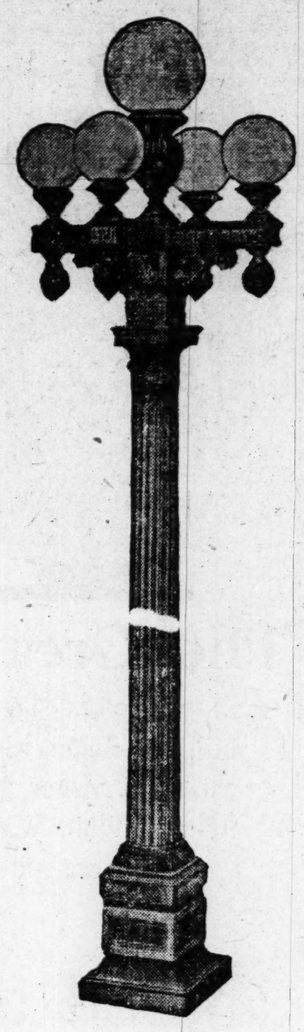

A Funny Trial, Said Mrs. Glover.

Judge Bond declined to grant the request, saying the evidence pointed against Mrs. Glover in the present trial was insufficient to convict, and that if a jury in his court should convict on such evidence the judge would set aside the verdict. Last spring Mrs. Glover was acquitted of a charge of being an accessory after the fact.

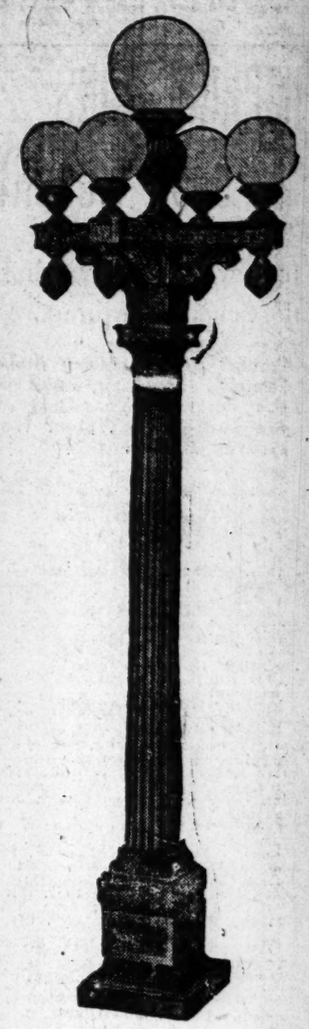

Mrs. Glover was not in court when the verdict of the jury was returned. When informed at her Waltham home of the result, she received the news coldly.

"Does it surprise you?" she was asked.

"Well, no;" she replied. "I can't say that it does. This has been a very funny trial right through. Hattie was accused of the crime, but in reality I was tried for it."

COLD SPELL IS OVER, SAYS WEATHER MAN

It Will Be Warmer for the Opening of the "Great White Way."

The weather will be warmer today, says Director Von Herrmann, and is likely to be fair, though there is a possibility of rain. The whole country enjoyed much warmer weather than usual yesterday, not a place in the country reporting zero.

"Have you noticed," said the Gopher, as he speculatively eyed the sky, "that it is generally the rule for the weather man to present us with a nice, juicy lump o wet weather whenever there's anything important going to happen? But what do we care, just so we have got a Great White Way to light the two posts, where but one grew before, when we wend our joyful and zig-zag way homeward in the 'wee sma' hours?' And let me tell you, bo, it's going to be some opening, too. Just cast your eye up Peachtree, and if you don't think that there is going to be one loud noise tonight—why, just wail till tonight. I'll be there, and with my particular little noise tucked under my left flipper."

MRS. JOBSON GIVEN RIGHT TO REMARRY

Behind closed doors the evidence in the divorce proceedings of Phillip N. Jobson against Mrs. Nellie Jobson was gone over again yesterday, and a second decree of divorce was awarded to the plaintiff.

The facts in the case were given wide publicity a little over a year ago when Mrs. Jobson was said to have been found in a room on North Forsyth street with Harry Wolford, a well-known traveling man. In attempting to escape by means of a sheet thrown over the window ledge, Mrs. Jobson fell and was so seriously injured that she was carried to the Grady hospital.

She was granted the right to remarry by the jury, this phase being the chief point on which she contested the case.

NEW MEANS OF LIVELIHOOD FOUND IN POOL BALL THIEF

"I am just one of several young men who make a living by stealing pool and billiard balls. Some of them make $3 to $4 a day. I know one young man, who dresses well and flies high, who picks up his ten pool balls every day and makes his $5, on which he lives like a prince. I am not going to give any of them away."

So spoke S. R. Harwell to Recorder Broyles, when he pleaded guilty to the theft of five pool balls from the Big Bonanza pool room on Decatur street.

Harwell sold the balls to the proprietor of a negro pool room for 25 cents each, and said he had stolen them in order to get money with which to buy morphine, to the use of which he is addicted.

He was bound over to the state court under $300 bond for larceny from the house.

Thus it developed that the stealing of pool and billiard balls is a regular industry in Atlanta and that a number of bums and rounders make a living by "swiping" the balls and disposing of them for cash at about half of their value, or less.

Pool balls are worth $1 each, and billiard balls are often worth as high as $3. There are said to be places in the city where the balls will pass like currency and it is an easy matter to sell them for a good price.

Pool rooms, as is well known, are open to all players, and it is not a difficult matter to pick up a few of the balls from the tables and walk out with them. It was stated in the police court that there were stolen from the pool rooms in the city on an average of thirty or forty balls a day, and it was a daily occurrence for many pool room proprietors to go to the wholesale houses and replenish their stock.

MOVE TO IMPEACH MAYOR MITCHELL

Gainesville, Ga., December 14.—A movement is on foot to impeach Mayor Mitchell because he refused to sign the recently-elected bond issue. This movement was originated by the members of the city council and a few citizens.

Mayor Mitchell stated that he was not disturbed over the rumored movement, and was standing for the law and the people, because the feature of the election was to sell the bonds at par and the sale which is about to be confirmed is far below par.

Much discussion has occurred over the bond issue, and from present prospects it looks as if the courts will take a hand in the matter before they are sold.

Don't take any substitute; demand K K K Flour.

MARTIN LUTHER

A bold, vigorous and masterful life of Luther is the only kind of life to do justice to a bold, vigorous and masterful man.

The monk who defied the Pope and brought about the Reformation is but little known to the present generation of readers.

This need of a modern biography has been met and well met by the Life of Luther, which begins in The Century for December. Dr. McGiffert, a distinguished scholar and an enthusiastic student of Luther's time, is the right man to write it, and The Century, the medium for so many epoch-making biographies, is the right magazine to publish it.

This December number is the Christmas number of The Century, and Christmas is celebrated in it with something more than the usual Christmas good cheer, some stories being essentially Christmas stories, and others being just good stories. It is needless to remind those who care for The Century that it makes a good gift to others.

WORTHY SUCCESSOR TO SMITH IS JULES WATSON

Dick Bayless has finally been traded for Jules Watson, the Gull in and outfielder, and with the coming of the former Reed protege, Otto Jordan's warriors are assured the assistance of a utility man that will all but fill the shoes of the incomparable "Sindah" Smith.

Watson was imported from the Texas League to join the Gull forces in Mobile about the middle of the 1908 season. Tom Fisher was heading the Mobile aggregation at the time, and was badly in need of an outfielder. Watson was gathered in to fill the gap.

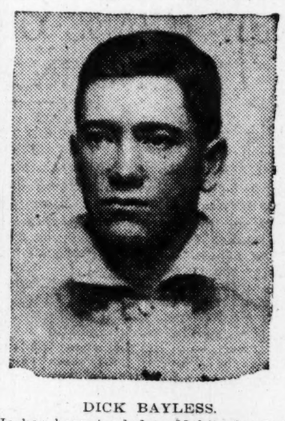

He went to right field and made good. He wasn't a Ty Cobb in the field, but he could stand up to the plate and slug with the best of 'em. After a time Jules was shifted to the infield and Zack Wheat went to right. The change didn't seem to have even a little effect on Watson's batting orb and he continued to clout the horsehide in the most approved fashion.

Since that time Fisher has come to Atlanta and George Reed as taken over the management of the club, tarried two years, and gone; but until now Watson has stuck to the same old ship. He has broken up not a few games at Ponce De Leon with his lusty drives and is feared as a most dangerous hitter all around the circuit.

Jordan has been longing for just such a man for at least a whole season, and has finally succeeded in getting him in exchange for Bayless, who seemed to lose his stride last year.

Bayless is popular in Atlanta and the fans will see him in a Gull uniform with regret, but there's better than an even chance they'll all but forget him when they see Watson.

With the coming of Jules Watson to join Otto Jordan's Cracker clan, the bunch that is to cavort at Ponce De Leon next spring and summer is assured the services of a utility man.

DICK BAYLESS.
He has been traded to Mobile for Jules Watson, an all-round player.

HERRMANN WOULD HAVE AN INTER-LEAGUE SERIES

New York, December 14.—The one thing which gave any promise of prolonging the meetings of the big leagues here today was possible discussion of a new schedule plan which Garry Herrmann has advocated. The Cincinnati president is quoted as favoring a schedule of 112 games for each league, which would carry the season up to the middle of August, and then to start a series of inter-league games.

Under this plan each club would play four games at home and four abroad, with each team of the other leage, or sixty-four games in all, in which teams of the National League would be pitted against American League teams. Each club would thus play 176 games during the season, which would start about April 10 and close about October 15.

The old world's championship series would be eliminated, it being calculated that the team winning the greatest number of games in the whole season would be deserving of a real world's championship title.

From statements attributed to President Johnson, there is little probability that the American League would take kindly to this plan for this season at least. It is indicated that the American League season will likely to begin about April 12 and consist of the usual 154 games.

President Ban Johnson believes the inter-league series rather chimerical, and says that so far as he knows, "the American League season will open on April 12 and close on October 6, and I have reason to believe the National League season will do the same."

Mr. Johnson expects that the American League magnates will authorize him to confer with President Lynch, of the National League, and prepare a playing schedule instead of having the playing dates fixed by a schedule committee. Whether the National League will do away with the schedule committee and let the presidents of the leagues arrange the schedule is problematical.

SHUART APPOINTED PUBLICITY MANAGER

C. E. Shuart, well remembered in Atlanta as manager of Bob Burman, when the wild one was at the last Speedway meet, has been made manager of publicity for the Indianapolis Speedway and will take up the duties of his new office at once.

Shuart was formerly a newspaper man, at one time holding the position of automobile editor of The Indianapolis Star. For some time past he has been connected with the Buick company. His appointment as publicity manager for the famous Indianapolis brick oval is considered quite an advance.

In speaking of Shuart, the Indianapolis Star says:

"The new manager has a wide acquaintance in the newspaper and automobile circles of the country and has been engaged in work in both lines for the last ten years. He recently returned from Savannah, Ga., where the Buick racing team completed the 1910 season, and opened negotiations with the Speedway management.

"Much of his experience in the newspaper line has been obtained in Indiana, though he has been connected with various dailies in the eastern and western cities. As a writer for the Buick Motor company he was successful and wrote many clever articles on the famous organization and its goat mascot, 'Lizzie.'"

LYNCH AGAIN HEADS NATIONAL LEAGUE

Report That He Would Not Take Short Contract Untrue.

New York, December 14.—R. L. Hedges notified the annual meeting of the American League of professional baseball clubs today that he had received an offer for his majority interest in the St. Louis club, and, with the consent of the league, he would accept it. The league appointed a committee to consider the offer and report tomorrow. It was commonly understood that the sale would be approved, and that the St. Louis American would change hands.

The identity of the persons making the offer was not made public.

The Boston National League is also in process of sale, but no definite action was taken today. Fred Tenny wil be manager next season, no matter who is owner.

Thomas J. Lynch was re-elected president of the National League for a term of one year today. His acceptance belied reports that he would not take such a short contract. An effort was made so to change the constitution that a president might be elected for more than one year. To do so required an affirmative vote of six of the eight members. On the proposition the vote stood 5 to 3, the "insurgents" defeating it.

The National League appointed a committee to confer with the American League on conflicting Sunday dates afternoon in ...e Boys' High school. the west.

Murphy, Ebbetts and Fogel, with their three votes, again won a victory in defeating a resolution so to amend the constitution that the schedule committee should be done away with and the league delegated to form a schedule in conjunction with the American League. The old schedule committee was appointed, and they will confer with Ban Johnson and promulgate the schedules for both major leagues.

Vice President C. W. Somers, of the American League, was re-elected.

The American League appointed President Ban Johnson a committee to frame a schedule of 154 games for next season, beginning April 12 and ending Saturday, October 7 in the east, and Sunday, October 8, in the west.

Mr. Johnson, as usual, will confer with the National League committee.

The Baseball Writers' Association of America at its annual meeting today re-elected its former officers.

The reports of officers indicated that a great amount of good had been accomplished in the transmission of baseball news and in the general "uplift" of the game.

THREE CITY LEAGUE GAMES ON TONIGHT

The second string of games in the City Basketball league's season will be pulled off tonight and three rattling good games of ball are expected. Wesley House Athletic Club plays Wesley Memorial, the Grant Park Athletic Club stacks up against the K. of P. aggregation, while the Fifth Regiment lads go against The Georgian outfit. The games will be played at the Wesley, K. of P., and Armory courts, respectively.

In the opening set of games, the Fifth Regiment, the Wesley House A. C., and the Wesley Memorial teams were beaten and the members of these three aggregations are out to even things up in the contest tonight. They may not do so, but it's quite a few better than an even wager that they'll be found trying for all there is in their husky young bodies.

The scores in the opening games showed that there is little to choose between the six contenders so far as ability goes, assuring those who attend the league games something well worth seeing. The games will be started promptly at 8:15 o'clock.

No admission fee is charged.

"NIG" CLARKE TRADED TO ST. LOUIS BROWNS

Nig Clarke, one of the best backstoppers that ever donned a Southern League uniform, has been traded by the management of the Cleveland team to the St. Louis Browns for Second Baseman Griggs. This was the first important trade made at the meeting of the American League in New York yesterday.

The passing of the swarthy Texan from the Nap fold is not a matter of surprise, as it has been said for some time that he was slated for trade or sale. "Nig" delivered the goods both behind the bat and with the willow, but for some reason couldn't exactly hit it off with the Nap owners and management. Hence his exchange.

Atlanta fans will watch his career with the Brown delegati... with consuming interest, as he is one of the most popular men that ever played under the Cracker standards.

Georgia Beats Donald Fraser.

The Georgia Military basketball team ran away from the Donald Fraser boys last night in the game played in the Georgia Military Academy gymnasium, beating them 43 to 16. The first half of the game was all in the favor of the military academy, but in the second half the Donald Fraser team took a brace and gave them a hard fight. The play was featured by some excellent passing on both sides. Ragland and Luck starred for Georgia Military Academy, and Ramspeck and Hardman did the same for Donald Fraser. Referee, Quiggs; umpire, Weems.

MANAGER JORDAN SIGNS SCANLON

Manager Otto Jordan, who is in attendance upon the baseball meetings in New York, added a new twirler to his staff on yesterday, when he signed up Pitcher Scanlon, of the Philadelphia Nationals.

Manager Jordan is very much impressed with this youngster and his record, though this latter feature is not obtainable at this end of the line as yet. Young Scanlon is a brother of "Doc" Scanlon, the Brooklyn veteran.

The telegram announcing the purchase of Scanlon is as follows:

"Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor, The Constitution: Have signed Pitcher Scanlon, with the Philadelphia Nationals last year, a brother of 'Doc' Scanlon, of the Brooklyn club.

"A. O. JORDAN."

Jordan also announces that he may grab a couple or more promising young hurlers while he is in New York.

Wool.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, December 14.—It is generally believed that since the government crop estimate was issued the markets have been called upon to absorb one or more large lines of long cotton and the rumor was current today that this liquidation was over. At that point, the trade became free buyers on the expectation of a very bullish ginners' report to be issued on December 20, which we are all led to believe will sustain the small crop estimate of the government and lead to a sharp demand for cotton. The movement continues on a very large scale, but it is entirely disregarded, the views of the trade being concentrated on the information which they hear about the ginners and not what they see coming into sight. Liverpool and Manchester are under similar influences, so the entire trade are bullish, though speculation is not active.

The well-known brokerage house of W. E. Hutton & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange and Chicago Board of Trade, 25 Broad street, New York, have just published for distribution a very readable and interesting booklet on small lot trading in stocks and bonds. It might be said that this booklet is most comprehensive and instructive on a great many points rarely covered by the average financial literature of the day.

ORDERS TO BUY WHEAT ADVANCED THE PRICES

Market Closed 5-8 to 1 1-8 Higher---Corn and Oats Up.

Chicago, December 14.—Important resting orders to buy wheat overcame unorganized selling opposition today and the market gradually hardened. Lack or rain was reported to be injuring the winter crop in Illinois. At the close, prices showed a net advance of ⅝ to 1⅛. Latest figures for corn were ¾@⅞ to ⅞ higher than last night; oats were up ¼@⅜ to ⅜@½, and provisions dearer by 12½ to 37½.

The finish in wheat was firm and practically at the highest point of the session. Although trade did not amount to much early, the market broadened out later as bears grasped at disappearing profits. The bulls crowded their advantage and displayed cable dispatches, stating that the persistent support in Chicago was being noted at Liverpool and elsewher. Special interest developed in the Illinois official report, which put the winter crop condition for central counties as low as 86 and in th southern end of the state down to 75. A little rain in Texas formed the only exception to dryness wherever fall-sown wheat is in the ground. Bears looked in vain for any definite fresh argument favoring a decline. Their offerings were at no time heavy and the advance once started had no serious backset. May ranged from 95⅝ to 96½ and closed ⅞ up at 96¾@96½.

Corn advanced on liberal purchases zy the leading wheat longs. Lack of cars prevented big country marketings here. May fluctuated between 47 and 47⅞ and closed ⅝@⅞ net higher at 47¾@47⅞. Cash corn was firm. No. 2 yellow finished at 51@51½.

The best buying of oats was local in character, but proved sufficient to bring about a rise with other grains. May sold from 34 to 34⅛@34½, and in the end was ⅜ above last night at 34⅜@34½.

Hogs today for the first time this season could be profitably cut up to make contract provisions. In consequence, the market for the product was strong, regardless of influences usually potent for a decline. After trading ceased, pork was 30 to 37½ more expensive than 24 hours previous, lard up 17½ and there was 12½ to 20 rise in the cost of ribs.

THE SAFEST INVESTMENT IN ATLANTA.

THE RECENT sale of the City Hall at more than $1,200.00 per front foot clearly shows the value of Atlanta's property. While this same property sold at a price under its value, it demonstrated the fact that the property we are offering within one block of the Union Depot, at $375 per foot, is the safest investment in Atlanta.

Just a little foresight and a little money will yield heavy returns if you take advantage of this exceptional opportunity. But you must act immediately. There are lots of "wise ones" in Atlanta, and they don't overlook such a chance as this very long.

MANY FAT 'POSSUMS WERE SLAUGHTERED FOR TONIGHT'S DINNER AT UNION CITY

A few of the thousand 'possums, more or less, which, with appropriate trimmings, will be served to guests at the constitution of a Masonic Lodge at Union City tonight. National President Charles S. Barrett, of the Farmers' Union, is seen on the extreme left, holding two large fat 'possums.

The biggest 'possum dinner in the history of Georgia—which is going some—is going to be pulled off at Union City, 17 miles from Atlanta, this evening, to celebrate the constitution of a Masonic lodge at "the town-that-grew-in-a-night."

Officers of the Georgia grand lodge have been invited as guests, and have signified their intention to be present. They will be headed by Colonel George M. Napier, grand master.

Prominent Masons from all over Georgia and from many other portions of the south will also grace the occasion.

The idea of marking the installation of a lodge in a unique fashion originated with President C. S. Barrett, of the National Farmers' Union. His home is at Union City, founded by the union, as is also the headquarters of the Georgia division.

As soon as it became certain Union City would have a lodge, Mr. Barrett set about preparations for a record-breaking celebration.

Union City, Masonic and lay alike, took to it as one man.

A public subscription was opened and soon oversubscribed.

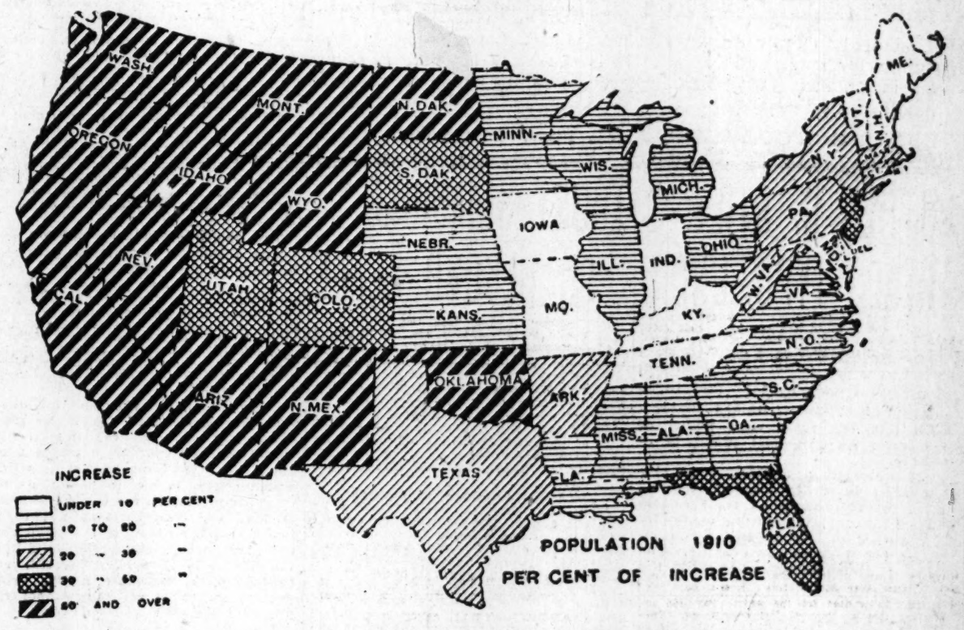

Georgia has been ransacked for 'possums and turkeys and other tempting edibles, and the best 'possum specialists have been secured to prepare the toothsome marsupial.

Members of the Atlanta delegation, including a large contingent of specially invited laymen, are expected to leave here on the Atlanta and West Point accommodation, which leaves the Terminal station at 5:45 p. m. Returning, the party will reach Atlanta about midnight.

The photograph herewith reproduced shows President Barrett, his coworkers and a few of the 'possums that will figure in the ceremonials.

Trains will leave Atlanta for Union City at 2, 4:10 and 5:4 p. m. The guests will leave Union City returning to Atlanta at 11 p. m.

HOW THE POPULATION INCREASED

Map prepared by Director Durand, of the Census, showing percentage by States.

The map and text herewith shown are reproduced from The Washington Post. It will be seen that among the southern states Oklahoma leads in rate of increase of population in the census of 1910, with Florida second, and the other southern states record ing uniform increases.

"Following Census Director Durand's announcement of the total population of the United States and his analytical statement regarding the subject, the director yesterday prepared a shaded map, marking states with reference to their percentage of increase.

"In 1910 the total population of the states which increased at the rate of 50 per cent and over is 7,887,657, as compared with 4,384,437 in 1900, and 2,927881 in 1890. In 1910 the total population of the states which increased at the rate of 30 to 50 per cent is 5,046,049, as compared with 3,630,230 in 1900, and 2,808,983 in 1890.

"In 1910 the total population of the states which increased at the rate of 20 to 30 per cent is 28,494,617, as compared with 23,032,405 in 1900, and 18,-718530 in 1890. In 1910 the total population of the states which increased at the rate of 10 to 20 per cent is 34,-823,700, as compared with 30,102,259 in 1900, and 25,501,360 in 1890. In 1910 the total population of the states which increased at the rate of less than 10 per cent is 15720,243, as compared with 14,845,244 in 1900, and 12,990,960 in 1890."

Held on Bigamy Charge.—W. T. Tate and wife were arrested last night at their home, 76 1-2 Carroll street, by Police Call Officers Webb and Johnson, on information from the sheriff of Richmond county that they are wanted in Aiken, S. C., on a charge of bigamy. It is understood that they will not fight extradition. Tate says that his wife and he have been divorced about nine years, and Mrs. Tate claims that her husband died five years ago in Florida. They have been in Atlanta exactly a year, and have been employed in one of the local cotton mills.

of the local body by 147 votes to 38 votes for his opponent, Earle E. Griggs.

All told 185 votes were polled at the dozen typographical precincts in Atlanta.

There are twelve chapels in the city and each of these places Atlanta's union printers deposited their ballots during the day, the voting beginning at 7 o'clock in the morning and closing at 7 o'clock in the evening. The vote was consolidated last night in the Atlanta Typographical Union headquarters in the Austell building.

In addition to the election of officers the members of the union voted on a donation of $200 to be used for the celebration of Benjamin Franklin's birthday in January next and upon four amendments to the organic laws of the association. The Franklin gift was turned down pronouncedly by a vote of 68 to 102, while all amendments were carried by an overwhelming vote.

The final consolidation showed the officers elected:

President, Luther H. Still; vice president, Theo E. Hollis; recorder, William S. Wardlaw; secretary-treasurer, Walter H. Grant; sergeant-at-arms, Walter M. Fudge; arbitrator, Dan W. expense without the fullest investigation of the government's chances of proving what it will allege.

It is said the department of justice has abandoned any idea of attacking the alleged combine as a whole and intends to fight the so-called trust in sections.

To Fight Combine In Sections.

The bill soon to be filed will be against one of the eighteen or twenty divisions of the alleged combine which investigators of the department of justice report having found doing business under a general head.

All commodities in the use of electricity have been divided into groups, the investigators say, and all of them are controlled by a central organization.

Incandescent lights are said to be controlled by one group, copper wire by another, street car motors by another, transforming machinery by still another, and so on down the list of electrical appliances.

The government will file its first suit against one of those sections and follow it up by actions against the others as fast as investigations are completed.

BIDS ACCEPTED FOR CITY SEWERS

The Dysard Construction company for section 4, at a cost of $35,547.50.

The Nichols Construction company for sections 5, 6, 7 and 8, at a cost of $160,224.80.

This makes the total cost of the sections for which contracts are to be let, $195,772.30.

As to the Disposal Plant.

The other tangle is to be taken up by the city council next Monday afternoon, when the bond commission and the sewer committee recommend that the contract for the Peachtree creek disposal plant be awarded to Chester A. Dady, of New York, for $195,368. Dady raised this bid by a telegram, after the bids were opened, by making it $216,322, and this made him far from the lowest bidder. The question arose over whether or not the city could forfeit his check for $5,000, the city attorney holding that it could not.

If council accepts this bid, Dady will have five days in which to sign the contract at his first bid, and if he fails, the city will seek to collect the check of $5,000 and then a lawsuit may follow.

In the meantime, the city can proceed to accept another bid and go on with the work, so that there will be very little delay. The next lowest bidder for the disposal plant was by Haard & Wurm, of Brooklyn, N. Y., which is $208,105.50, and the second lowest bidder was by the Piedmont Construction company, of Atlanta, for $208,657.50. The city can take either of these bids and it is probable that it will accept the bid of the home company, which is only a few hundred dollars higher than the other.

What Actuated the Meeting.

In deciding to adopt the monolithic sewer, the joint committee was actuated by a telegram from Dr. Rudolph Hering, who said he would prefer that form of sewer, if it was $1 a foot lower than the lowest bid for the reinforced sewer, and on account of the fact that the lowest bid for the latter form of sewer would far exceed the bond appropriation.

The monolithic sewer is to have a flat bottom and will be constructed of plain concrete in the ditch. The reinforced sewer is thinner, but is reinforced by steel wire and must be made in moulds above the ditch.

How Sewer Will be Built.

Under the specifications the monolithic sewer must built as follows:

In case the sewer is built of plain concrete, the bottom shall be rammed with a special tool, which shall force the stone one inch down into the mass of the concrete, then troweled smooth, and left so. As the life of the bottom is dependent on the smoothness, special stress must be laid upon this point. Where the bottom and sides join, the concrete must be keyed, slotted or grooved, to the satisfaction of the engineer.

Forms used for the sewer shall be of smooth metal and shall be thoroughly cleaned and smoother each time they are used. The forms must fit tight where they join, and shall be so constructed as to give a smooth, polished surface when removed.

In filling sewer forms, the concrete must be rammed with such special tools as to force the stone back one-half inch from the sides, and the mortar shall be of such consistency as to leave no bubbles on this face. The capacity of the sewer being dependent upon its smoothness, special stress must be laid upon the smoothness of the finished surface of the inside.

An Important Provision.

The following important provision is made in the specifications:

Any work not herein particularly specified, but which may be fairly implied as part of the contract, of which the city engineer shall be the judge, shall be performed by the contractor without extra charge. Any material or labor required for the work, but not fairly implied as part of the contract and not herein specified, shall be furnished by the contractor at cost plus 15 per cent.

City Engineer Clayton estimated that the sections of the intercepting sewer not provided for in the bids would cost $61,000. This would leave about $200,000 for the sewers for which contracts are to be let, as the total appropriation for the whole work is $260,000. The sections not to be let at this time include a section near the plant, which cannot be built until the plant is definitely located, and two sections from the Butler sewer outfall, which is already temporarily provided for by a 24-inch sewer.

The new sewers are to be 48-inch and to be made of concrete on the monolithic plan.

Good Work by City Engineer.

The specifications call for a completion of the sewer work within nine months and the disposal plant within eighteen months. This discrepancy was made because it is contemplated to utilize the sewer as fast as it is built and thus afford relief to the city along the route by empting the sewage into the branches as each section is completed.

The commission and the sewer committee complimented the city engineer on the close estimates he had made. He has been ably assisted in the work of computing the bids by William A. Hansell, Jr.

The whole matter is now in good shape and when council acts next Monday it is believed that the building of the Peachtree creek disposal plant and the intercepting sewers will be in a shape for the work to be rapidly pushed.

will rise into the air. And at 4 o'clock the flying program of the day—the initial program of The Journal's three days' meet—will close.

But, in the meantime—

Things that would have made our forefathers doubt their sanity will happen in those two hours between 2 and 4 o'clock. In that period man-made birds will fly about through the air on giant wings, the size of which has not been known since lizards were giants. These same man-birds, each carrying a human soul on wings of steel and silk, will have done all manner of stunts before 4 o'clock strikes. They will have done everything but turn upside down, or squawk, or peck at grains of corn.

Includes Everything.

The program of the whole meet, stretching through three days, includes everything that an aeroplane has ever done or attempted to do on an aviation field setting. Atlanta has no Alps at the Speedway, so there will be no attempt here to cross those mammoth mountains. Neither can Philadelphia and New York be imported for the occasion, so that the aviators could race between those cities. But the field is here, and it's one of the best in the whole country—one of the few very best, if we accept the fulsome praises that the air-men bestow upon it.

Thursday's program is but a part of a list of big stunts that Atlanta and her visitors will have seen before Saturday evening. Between now and that time the crowds at the Speedway will have seen every form of flight known to air-men, performed at the very best that keen rivalry can inspire. It will have been aeroplane racing, automobile and aeroplane racing, bomb-dropping, endurance tests, and trials for the world's record of altitude.

If any of the present records are smashed, Atlanta becomes famous on the spot, and the air-men of the country will jostle each other to get here and go the new record one better.

Records May Be Broken.

And the chances are great that some of the records will be broken. The air-men say so themselves. They regard Atlanta's aviation field so very highly that they have not hesitated to express their admiration of it. They point to its flat barrenness, its freedom at the same time from hills and air currents, and from trees and obstacles, as features distinctly in its favor.

There is a trial for altitude Thursday afternoon—event No. 5; and it may be that the trial will go the record a few feet better. If it does, it will be well worth being at the Speedway to remember.

It is announced that two handsome cups will be given as prizes during the aviation meet by six Atlanta mercantile firms that have come together and agreed to share the cost.

One cup will be given to the aviator making the highest altitude record during the meet, all flights to count in competition.

The other will be given to the aviator who makes the fastest two miles during the meet, every flight to be allowed in competition.

It is significant to note that the merchants were not asked to give these cups, but worked out the idea voluntarily, therein showing the liberality and public spirit which marks all Atlanta enterprises.

The six merchants are as follows: M. Rich & Bros. Company, the Keely Company, Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Company, J. M. High, Davison-Paxon-Stokes Company, and J. P. Allen & Co.

Society Will Be There.

The whole state is interested in this aviation meet of The Atlanta Journal. From everywhere within reasonable distance of Atlanta the citizens and their wives and families are coming to see an aeroplane actually in flight.

The sale of boxes at Daniel Brothers, 45 Peachtree, shows that society is going to turn out in force and make the meet a brilliant success from another standpoint. And the rest of us, the unorganized ones, who outnumber the fortunate few—are all interested, because the general admission price is 50 cents, with half-price for children. That is what is called "popular price," which Atlanta has the unique distinction of applying for the first time on record to an aviation meet. Tickets at this price, as well as those for boxes, are on sale at Daniel Brothers.

All day Wednesday the aviators and their mechanicians were at work on the big machine-birds out at the Speedway, putting things together, tightening wire stays and braces, tuning up motors, etc. This morning the machines are all oiled and running in the best of condition. A few short trial flights on the field proved that everything is in readiness for the opening program.

Augustus Post, the fourth member of the Curtiss Aviation Company, will complete the quartet of fivers. His machine, "The Skylark," a Curtiss biplane, was here before him.

How to Reach Speedway.

There are three ways of getting to the Speedway. Atlantans and their immediate neighbors know all three, but for the benefit of visitors they may be detailed here.

One of them is on foot. Follow the crowd, and you'll get there.

Another is by trolley car. Cars will leave at brief intervals from the corner of Broad and Alabama streets, at the American National Bank, and will go direct to the gates.

The third way is by automobile. Either of two routes may be traveled by this method, and both of the routes are excellent. One route is to go out Whitehall street one block past where the car tracks turn off and turn left into a narrow street, Stewart avenue, around the corner of the Virginia Bridge and Iron Company's plant. Stewart avenue will lead you to Hapeville, where you turn right after or before crossing the railroad, and turn back left a short distance beyond to go direct to the field. The other route is to continue on out Whitehall and cross the railroad tracks, turning left immediately, turning right a couple of blocks beyond into Gordon street, turning left a couple of blocks further into Lee street, and following that road (the McPherson road) through East Point to Hapeville field.

The following gentlemen have been appointed judges and honorary judges of the meet: Asa G. Candler, Jr., chief judge; Charles I. Ryan, R. E. O'Donnelly, P. S. Arkwright, R. C. Clarke, H. S. Johnson, Jr., Turner Fitten, Joseph Brown Connally, Beaumont Davison, W. G. Humphrey, Lucien York, Arthur Kiesly, Joseph Gatins, Jr., W. H. Brittain and W. H. White, judges; Mayor Robert F. Maddox, Brigadier General Albert L. Mills, United States Army, and C. F. Von Herrmann, director of the United States weather bureau, honorary judges.

"The Mikado" Rehearses Tonight.— There will be an important rehearsal of "The Mikado" tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the quarters of the Atlanta Musical Association, 122 Peachtree street. The comic opera will be put on at the Grand next Tuesday night and Wednesday matinee for the benefit of the Uncle Remus Memorial fund. It is composed of a company of local talent, but their rendition promises to equal, if not surpass, the professional. Every member of the play is urged to be present at the rehearsal.

Real Estate Outlook

The indications are that frontage on Edgewood avenue, this side of Boulevard, will trade steadily up to $200 a foot.

A valuation of $300 a foot will extend down Pryor street as far as Fair. Buy anything under that figure.

If you want to buy a residence that will also represent an investment to make money on, buy between Atlanta and Decatur.

For sub-division acreage look along the South Decatur car line.

ADVERTISING TALKS

ity from publishers whose editorial consciences seem to be all right, but whose business conscience permits the acceptance of advertisements of every kind and nature so long as they bring in money.

The publications that have been the most guilty and continue to be guilty of placing before their readers IRRESPONSIBLE ADVERTISEMENTS have been using flaring headlines and news stories that tell of the great outrage perpetrated on the people.

What is the matter with publishers whose moral sense is so dulled? Are they less guilty than the get-rich-quickers? Should they not be punished also? Why should they be immune?

Does a publisher who accepts FRAUDULENT ADVERTISING enjoy special privileges that prevent him from being called to the Bar of Justice to answer for his crime? Is it not criminal to publish the advertisements of scoundrels?

Money is the god of most men—that's the real basis of most BUSINESS DISHONESTY. But there is a day coming when get-rich-quick publishers will have to render an accounting to the Federal Government as well as the men who have sold and are selling gold bricks to the public.
